CONNERS BROS. ATTACHES D. H. WALKER IN SUM OF $300,000

City Named as Trustee in New Action Brought Against High School Contractor and Building Commission in the United States District Court at Boston

The city of Lowell was plunged into further and deeper litigation today when Connors Bros. Inc. and the English Construction Co. Inc. made service of a trustee writ attaching the goods and estate of Daniel H. Walker, Henry B. Bourke and John B. Lamont, Joseph E. Lamoreaux, Timothy P. O'Sullivan, George E. Marchand and John A. Stevens, members of the high school building commission, and the city of Lowell, trustee, in the sum of $300,000.

The action has been brought in the United States district court and the writ is returnable at the court in Boston on the first Tuesday in December.

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—It is officially declared here that former Emperor William has been authorized to return to Germany.

United States Not to Protest
WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—President Coolidge believes the traditional policy of the American government would preclude it from joining with the allied governments in protesting to Germany against the return of Crown Prince Frederick William or his father, the former emperor, or in measures to prevent the re-establishment of the monarchy.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Some of the British newspapers are beginning to show anxiety over the possible return to Germany of former Emperor William and last night's reports from Paris and Brussels that he had obtained his passports are featured significantly this morning.

SAYS PEACE OF WORLD IS ENDANGERED

BRUSSELS, Nov. 13.—(By the Associated Press) The question of addressing the allied and associated powers, recalling them to their moral duties, is under consideration by the Belgian cabinet. It may also bring the matter before the League of Nations as it considers the peace of the world is becoming increasingly endangered.

In connection with the return of the ex-emperor to Germany, Belgian cabinet opinion holds that close cohesion of the allies is necessary with a view to the strict application of the treaty of Versailles, both as regards the punishment of war criminals and reparations.

VERDICT AGAINST CITY IN SIDEWALK ACCIDENT

Judgment for the plaintiff in the sum of $202.50 was returned in a sealed verdict in the case of Dole vs. City of Lowell, delivered to Judge Stanley E. Qua at the opening of superior court here this morning.

Edgar S. Dole asked damages for injuries sustained when he fell on the sidewalk in front of the postoffice last April while returning to a fire nearby. The city contended he tripped over a vaulting sign which was on government, not municipal property. The case went to the jury at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

BANDITS IN BIG WHISKEY RAID

Four Government Guards Overpowered and Handcuffed Together in Circle

Bandits Fled With Several Trucks Loaded With Whiskey

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 13.—Armed whiskey bandits numbering about 25, early today raided the Gwynnbrook distillery at Gwynnbrook, a suburb, leaving with several truckloads of whiskey. Several hours later police captured two drivers and three trucks loaded with stolen whiskey near Towson, about ten miles away from the holdup. The men caught gave their names as James W. Crawford and Walter Marino, both of Philadelphia.

Four government guards at the distillery were overpowered and handcuffed together in a circle. The men gained entrance to the place about 1:30 o'clock and it was after 3 o'clock before they finished loading and started away. The handcuffed guards made their way to the home of a neighbor and gave the alarm.

AUTO ACCIDENT VICTIMS BETTER

All three men who were injured at Tyngsboro yesterday when their machine went over a 25-foot bank were reported today at the hospital to be resting comfortably, one having been sent home this morning.

The most seriously injured of the three, Valerie Harvey, who is at the Corporation hospital, is said to be a great deal improved. Albert Montigny, who was taken to the Lowell General hospital, is recovering, while Albert Ploffe, who was also taken to the Lowell General hospital, was discharged this morning and sent to his home.

ASTOUNDING REPLY TO COURT'S QUERY

A middle-aged woman, carrying a baby in her arms, appeared before Judge Enright in district court this morning charged with illegally selling liquor. Distracted for a moment, the judge was unaware of the nature of the offense that brought the woman and child before him, and to Deputy Hugh Downey, prosecuting officer, he addressed the question: "What's this case, deputy?"

The deputy promptly replied: "Why, this is a case of liquor, Your Honor."

LITTLE INTEREST IN PRIMARIES

Estimated That Not More Than Half of City's Voting Strength

Will Go to the Polls—Dullest Election in History of City

The most pathetic election Lowell ever has experienced is going on today for the nomination of four school committee members and two councilors in five wards. Indications at 1 p.m., two hours after the polls opened, were that less than 50 per cent of the city's voting strength of 30,000 would go to the polls before closing time at 8 o'clock this evening. A total vote of 15,000 is a liberal estimate.

As samples of the vote registered in the first two hours, the following are submitted:

Ward 4, Precinct 1, Edison school, 18; Ward 5, Precinct 2, Laura Lee school, 44; Ward 3, Precinct 2, Chalmers and Grand, 31; Ward 9, Precinct 2, Moody school, 61; Ward 5, Precinct 2, Bedford square, 43; Ward 4, Precinct 1, 43.

PRETTY GOOD RULE TO LEAVE 'EM ALONE

For having a skunk in his possession before the open season was declared, Alvide A. Champagne was fined $10 in district court this morning. He was arrested in Chelmsford on Oct. 11 after he had shot the animal, described in dictionaries as "an American carnivorous animal allied to the weasel, which emits the 'etc.' in the incomplete definition is synonymous to 'burn your clothes.'"

Champagne said he shot the skunk after he had found it with a leg broken in a trap. Judge Enright remarked that he had always considered a skunk in the nature of vermin and thought they could be destroyed at any season of the year. When informed of the state law, however, he was forced to impose the fine.

DISSOLUTION OF PARLIAMENT

Premier Baldwin Advised by Crown to Dissolve Parliament as Soon as Possible

Announcement of Reunion of Asquith and Lloyd George Creates Sensation

LONDON, Nov. 13. (By the Associated Press.)—Dissolution of parliament before the coming week's end, was forecast by Prime Minister Baldwin at the opening of the new session today. He announced he had advised the crown to dissolve parliament as quickly as possible and he did not see why the date should be got through with as quickly.

The premier made only a brief statement in which he said a general election was always a disturbing element, and should be got through with as quickly as possible.

Mr. Baldwin said in substance he was thoroughly convinced protective tariffs were necessary in order to solve the unemployment problem.

Asquith and Lloyd George in Accord
LONDON, Nov. 13. (By the Associated Press.)—The Asquith and Lloyd George factions of the liberal party sank their differences this morning and reunited to present a solid front against the conservative protectionists, as well as the labor party, in the coming elections.

The reconciliation was effected at a meeting of former Premiers Asquith and Lloyd George, Sir Alfred Mond and Sir John Simon. Arrangements were made for a united campaign.

While such a move was not unexpected by many political observers there yet had been a great element of doubt as to whether the two bitter political antagonists, Asquith and Lloyd George, could be brought together. Therefore the announcement of the reunion furnished one of the big sensations of the day.

The Evening News states that Mr. Asquith will lead the reunited party. It is recalled that Mr. Lloyd George in answering interviewers when he landed at Southampton from his American visit last week, said he would work with anybody who would serve the country faithfully.

BOY TELLS HOW TAXI SNUFFED OUT LIFE OF LITTLE BROTHER

Russell Kelley Recalls Accident Which Resulted in Fatality—Only in Third Grade of School Makes Model Witness—Mother Weeps During Testimony

A seven year old boy, Russell Kelley, evoked the admiration of judge, jury and spectators in superior court this morning when he told a straightforward story of how his brother James was struck and knocked down by a taxi in Lowell street last January, sustaining injuries which brought almost instantaneous death.

Russell, the bright young witness of this morning, told Judge Stanley E. Qua and jurors he was coasting there on Jan. 27 last and had "Buddy," his four year old brother, in his care. According to the story of the witness his brother was struck by the taxi just as he was in the gutter near the curb. He told how he warned his brother of the oncoming machine, but too late. For such a youngster Russell made a stoical witness. Only an occasional quick intake of breath revealed the strain he was under. Through direct questioning and cross-examination he was cool and collected. He showed a keen memory and an understanding of court procedure almost inconceivable of one so young. Upon Judge Qua's query he said he is in the third grade of school.

The action is one in tort in the sum of $10,000 brought against James C. and John W. Clarke, as owners of the Red Line Taxi Service, by John Kelley, father of James R. Kelley and administrator of his estate. William D. Reagan represents the plaintiff and Kerwin & Reilly are defense counsel.

It is contended that "Buddy" Kelley, as four-year-old James was known, was struck by a machine in the service of the defendants.

The father and mother were in court and Mrs. Kelley broke down and wept copiously during the course of the early morning testimony. She had to be assisted from the courtroom by deputy sheriffs but later bravely returned to sit through the session. She was visibly affected throughout the questioning and aroused, through her dejection and sorrow, the sympathies and emotions of many spectators.

The jury yesterday afternoon visited Rogers street and viewed the spot where the accident which resulted in Lowell's first auto fatality of the year occurred. It is expected that counsel will finish arguments and that the case will go to the jury late today.

FORBES CHARGES CONSPIRACY TO ENCOMPASS HIS DESTRUCTION

Former Veterans' Bureau Director Makes "General, Sweeping and Absolute Denial" of Charges—Makes Bitter Attack on Brig. Gen. Chas E. Sawyer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—"A conspiracy to encompass my destruction by means of perjury, subornation of perjury and the suppression of material facts and documents," was charged by Charles R. Forbes, former director of the veterans' bureau, in testimony today before the senate veterans' committee. "Taking the stand in his own defense before a crowded committee room, the former director entered a 'general, sweeping and absolute denial' of charges made by other witnesses reflecting upon his honesty.

The denial was directed, the witness said, against "every charge, statement, innuendo and insinuation which in any manner whatsoever reflects upon the honesty and integrity of my official or personal conduct while I occupied the office of director of war risk insurance or director of the veterans' bureau."

Most of the deficiencies in the administration of the laws providing for relief to disabled veterans, he declared, "had been due to politics and Sawyer." He was referring to Brig. Gen. Chas. E. Sawyer, personal friend and physician of President Harding.

Forbes then flatly denied the statement made before the committee by Dr. Sawyer, that he was dismissed by President Harding for insubordination in connection with the sale of surplus property at Perryville, Md.

PLAN BIGGEST LIQUOR RAID SINCE VOLSTEAD ACT BECAME EFFECTIVE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—Virtually the entire force of federal prohibition agents from Alabama and reinforcements from Washington and other places, were here today for what was planned to be the biggest liquor raid in New Orleans since the Volstead act became effective. The raids which are predicated on the fact that the city virtually was "wide open" Halloween night, were scheduled for late today but a half dozen had been made this forenoon.

THREATENED BY MAN HE ACCUSED OF THEFT

CENTRAL FALLS, R. I., Nov. 13.—Sigmond Rand, whose cellar was raided by rum bandits last August and who swore out warrants against several suspected parties, says he was attacked early today in this city by George Savage, one of the suspects who, he alleges, pointed a gun at him and said that if he did not withdraw the charge against him, he would kill him. A neighbor heard the threat and called up the police station. Two officers were quickly on the scene. One captured Savage's companion, but Savage got away, although the officer fired two shots after him. An automobile was left in the possession of the police.

The man arrested was Thomas Ryan, who was arraigned today in the district court charged with aiding and abetting George Savage and held in $5000 for trial on Nov. 23.

WOMEN CLUB MEMBERS HEAR DR. ANSPACHER

Dr. Louis K. Anspacher, noted American dramatist and lecturer, treated the Middlesex Women's club yesterday to a talk on "Drama as a Social Force in Democracy." Dr. Anspacher is himself a playwright and an actor.

He defined a social force as one that acts upon the will of man, and went on to show at some length the various ways in which drama affects the thoughts and actions of the people of a nation. All drama has one fundamental idea, that of a clash of two wills, equally balanced, and culminating in physical conflict. The will of the hero must not be so strong that it overshadows that of the villain or vice versa. This is the reason that Shakespeare in his Julius Caesar gives us not the strong, imperious man who conquered all who stood against him, but a weak, epileptic Caesar who is the prey to fear of all who surround him.

Drama of any period, he said, is a registry of the social life of that period, and if we take any of the more famous plays we can see the effect they have had on the public matters with which they deal. Instances of this which he cited are Thackeray's "Doll House" which was followed by women's enabling statutes giving them the right to their own children, co-education and emancipation from all restrictions, and "Uncle Tom's Cabin" by Harriet Beecher Stowe, which was the force that swayed the opinion of this country from indifference to abolitionism, and was the primary element in finally precipitating the Civil War. "Do you think it's an accident?" said Dr. Anspacher. "No! That is the way that drama works."

Drama is the one art in which the audience has a chance to join and either by their approval or condemnation say what and what shall not be accepted as good and true. It is the one art in which the actual writing is done by the audience. The actor is only the conductor who directs the course of the plot, and all the time he is talking, the audience does most of the thinking and fills in the spots that are inferred instead of being said outright. The drama is all that history has tried to be and failed, which is one of the main reasons for its importance, for thereby public matters may be handled in such a way that a national spirit is created. Shakespeare is responsible for the national spirit of England.

He declared that he is one of the few actors on the legitimate stage today who has any use for the moving pictures, but he considers that they have drawn away from the spoken drama all that was superficial and interesting. Things that have been removed for the better he cited as the elastic play and the melodrama. Of the melodrama he quoted the instance in one called "Tracy, the Outlaw," which, he remarked, was all of that. In one scene the hero holds upon his shoulders, a trundle that is broken in order that the train bearing the heroine may safely cross over, and then walks down to the front of the stage and exclaims, "And she will never know." This is the sort of thing that the screen has purged out of the spoken play.

The number of people reached by the drama is best realized when one stops to consider that twice a day, six days a week and for an indefinite period, large theatres are filled by audiences who expose themselves for two and one-half hours to the influence of the ideas of the playwright and when they leave the theatre they are never quite the same in their deal with, as they were before at thoughts on the particular subject tending. He quoted John Brooks' definition of drama as "The law of creative purchase."

A mass of people gathered together will always have higher ideals than each component member of that mass individually, and therefore drama has an uplifting influence due to the large numbers before which it is presented. Furthermore, the problems presented are always those of the common everyday man, and of the exceptional individual who conquers all without the least effort. It was through the book of Job that the idea of idol worship was destroyed and in its place came the conception of God as a being interested in not one certain race of people, but in all animate and inanimate things in the world. Through the medium of drama, motive forces are dropped into the human mind one at a time until the cumulative force of truth breaks through, resulting in action for the betterment of humanity.

How To Keep A Child Healthy

A GENERATION ago parents thought that sickness was a part of a child's life, but now know better. The secret is in the food the mother allows the child to eat, and in watching that elimination occurs regularly two or three times a day. Mrs. J. Russell of 19,411 Havana Ave., Detroit, Mich., keeps her family of two young children in perfect health with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and Mrs. H. L. Smith of 519 Maple Ave., East Pittsburg, Pa., says her family of three children have never been sick a day since giving them Syrup Pepsin.

A Substitute for Physics

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a scientific compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and suitable aromatics. The formula is on every package. You will find you do not have to force children to take it, and it is much better for them than castor oil, calomel or coal-tar drugs like phenolphthalein even if covered with sugar or chocolate. Syrup Pepsin is mild and gentle in action and your child will have an easy passage without griping or strain. It does not contain narcotics, and you can give it with absolute safety to an infant at the breast.

"Magic" in a Teaspoonful

Every store that sells medicines sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. Give half a teaspoonful to an ailing baby or child at night when you put it to bed and you will find a happy, laughing youngster in the morning. Take Syrup Pepsin yourself when constipated, and give it to any member of the family young or old, for any ailment due to constipation, such as biliousness, headache, lack of appetite, sleeplessness, bad breath, cuncters, fever sores, indigestion, and to break up fevers and colds. Stop that first sneeze or sniffle and you will have a healthy winter.

BROWNINGS ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

SALE LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 12.—With the jury complete after a week of argument, the taking of testimony is to begin in district court here today at the trial of Mariner and John Brownings, Jr., charged with murder in the first degree as a result of the fatal shooting of Benjamin F. Ballantyne, the latter's brother-in-law.

DEATH TODAY OF MRS. MARY GALLAGHER

Mrs. Mary (Torsney) Gallagher, wife of Charles Gallagher, a life-long resident of Centerville, died early this morning at her home, 117 Methuen street, after an illness extending over a period of several months.

Mrs. Gallagher was well known and highly esteemed throughout the section of the city in which she lived and also had numerous friends in other parts of Lowell. Of staunch character, kindly disposition, and always seeking avenues by which she might be helpful to others, her death will leave a breach that will not readily be filled. In her family life she was a shining example of the unselfish mother, her greatest interest being in her home and the affairs of her husband and children. She was a devout attendant of St. Michael's church and a member of St. Michael's Holy Rosary sodality for many years. She bore her long illness with exemplary Christian fortitude.

She leaves, besides her husband, four sons, John P., the well known electrical contractor; Charles L., city inspector of wires; James A., and Raymond T. Gallagher; two daughters, Helen C. and Agnes F. Gallagher; all of this city; her mother, Mrs. Ann Torsney of Skaneateles Falls, N. Y.; four sisters, Mrs. John James of Skaneateles Falls, N. Y., Mrs. James O'Hara of Lowell, Mrs. Henry Hunter of Dorchester and Mrs. Robert J. Webster of Lowell; and one brother, John R. Torsney of Skaneateles Falls, N. Y.

FUNERAL NOTICES

GALLAGHER.—Died November 13 in this city, at her home, 117 Methuen street, Mrs. Mary (Torsney) Gallagher. The funeral will take place Friday morning at 9 o'clock, from the house and there will be a solemn high funeral mass at St. Michael's church at 10 o'clock. Burial in St. Patrick's cemetery. The arrangements are in charge of funeral director James W. McKenna, Sons.

BERRY.—Died in this city November 11, Lillian Gertrude Berry, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Catherine Berry, 29 Fifth street, Lowell, Wednesday morning at 8:15 o'clock, from the home, and funeral high mass at St. Michael's church at 9 o'clock. Burial in St. Patrick's cemetery, in charge of Funeral Director James W. McKenna, Sons. 11-12.

GILLEN.—Died Nov. 10 at his home, 189 Concord street, William J. Gillen. The funeral will take place Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock from the house and a funeral high mass will be sung at the Immaculate Conception church at 9 o'clock. The burial will be in St. Patrick's cemetery under the direction of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

GILLEN.—The funeral of Thomas W. Gillen, son of William C. Gillen, took place yesterday at 8:30 o'clock from his home, 72 B street, and was largely attended. A funeral high mass was celebrated at St. Margaret's church at 9 o'clock by Rev. Andrew E. O'Brien. The choir rendered the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Mr. Cornelius Quinn and Miss Catherine Jennings. Mr. Louis Guilbault was the organist. The bearers were all young men of the deceased, Messrs. Joseph and William Welch, Henry and Albert Tink, William O'Leary and Charles Gillen. There were many floral and spiritual bouquets. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Charles H. Molloy, Sons.

SULLIVAN.—The funeral of Marjorie Sullivan, for 23 years a valued employee of the Livingston Coal Co., and of recent years a resident of Providence, R. I., who died November 10, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William E. Bates, 198 Carpenter street, took place yesterday at 8:30 o'clock from the home, at St. Peter and St. Paul's cathedral, Providence, where a funeral mass was sung at 8:30 o'clock by Rev. John Trainor. The bearers were Jeremiah Hanley, Daniel Sullivan, John Hart and Michael Holleran. The burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, this city, under the direction of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell and Sons.

RAYBALL.—Leo Rayball, infant son of Michael J. and Anna (Callahan) Rayball, died this morning at the home of his parents, 52 B street, after a brief illness, aged 1 month and 14 days. Funeral took place this afternoon from the home, at 2 o'clock. Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers O'Donnell & Sons.

CARON.—The funeral of Maurice Caron, son of Albert and Alida (Savard) Caron, took place this morning at 11 o'clock from the home of his parents, 54 Ford street, after a brief illness, aged 1 year, 1 month and 15 days.

BRIDGEMAN.—Mrs. Jennie C. Bridgeman, widow of Valentine R. Bridgeman, died in Boston on Thursday, November 3. She leaves five sisters, Mrs. J. W. Anderson, Mrs. W. V. Briggs, the Misses Norma and Emma Edgerly, all of Boston, and Mrs. W. E. Nutting of Braintree. Burial was in Weymouth cemetery, Melrose.

SHEPHERD.—Anthony Shephard, a former well known resident of Lowell, died Sunday at his home, 103 Middlesex street, Haverhill. He leaves his wife, Mary (Frazier) Shephard, and one son, John Shephard, formerly of Lowell.

SHARP.—William Sharp, a well known resident of this city, a member of St. Patrick's parish, died this morning at one of the local hospitals. The body was removed to the rooms of Undertaker Peter H. Savage, Son.

MENDONCA.—Dominick Mendonca died this morning at the home of his parents, Leo and Adeline Machado Mendonca, 508 Guilford street, aged 1 year and 3 months.

ALEXANDER.—The funeral of Mrs. Caroline Alexander, widow of Alexander, who died in Hartford, Conn. last Saturday, took place this morning from the home of her son, J. Walter Alexander, 74 Moody street, Lowell, high funeral mass celebrated in St. Jeanne d'Arc church at 9 o'clock by Rev. Victor Choquette, of Brockton, Mass., a lifelong friend of the deceased. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery. The choir, under the direction of Arthur H. Giroux, sang Perrenault's mass. The soloists of the mass were Dr. George E. Thrills? Movies, Escapes 'n Everything In Novels Cannot Beat Surveyors

BY N.E.A. SERVICE
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Shooting stern-first in small boats through boiling, swirling rapids between sheer walls—Plunging into seething reaches of river where the waters, dashing madly against rocks, were lashed into waves 40 to 50 feet high—Riding boats that lurched like frenzied bronchos, sometimes being hurled overboard, sometimes capsized, always facing danger and often death but going steadily ahead—

Such is the story brought to Washington by the government party which surveyed the last uncharted stretch of the canyon of the Colorado. The party, headed by Col. C. H. Hirdsire of the geological survey,

At first, portages were made wherever possible past the worst portions of rapids. At Soap Creek rapids, for instance, they got the boats over the rocks for about 100 yards and into an eddy below the main rapid.

"However," says Colonel Hirdsire, "we might have got through safely without portage, as we ran worse rapids later. It was mainly to work the portage the heavy wooden boats here."

Receivers Boat
"At noon on August 4, we reached a rapid that lay between vertical cliffs which rose directly from the water, so that there was no foothold for portage and no chance to look the rapids over and form a plan to run them."

"We called these the 'Sheer-wall Rapids,' and we made them safely, though everybody got wet. We ran such rapids with the boat stern first, in order to steer better. We put on life jackets and lay face down in the boats, clinging hard to the lifelines that were stretched across the duck."

"The waves seemed mountainous, and to most of us this was a thrilling, but we afterward became so used to riding rough water that we tied with one another to make the plunge with lighted pipe or cigar without losing the light."

Frank H. Dodge, expert boatman who accompanied the party largely in the role of emergency lifesaver, in making one rapid in the canyon came upset in one of the swirls, but he swam out, dragging the boat with him and righted it without help.

On August 10, Hirdsire recounts, "the boatmen of the party ran the little fleet of four boats through Boulder Rapids while the more conservative members picked their way through the boulders."

"If E. Blake, one of the boatmen, was hurried completely out of his boat, turning a complete somersault and going completely out of sight. But he soon reappeared and caught his boat, climbed in and paddled on through the rapids."

Surveyors Busy
"All this time the real mission of the expedition was never forgotten. All along the course the surveying instruments were set up, observations and photographs taken, to furnish data for the scientific ends of the trip. The location of the canyon and location of dam sites for flood prevention, power development, and irrigation."

"This often forced extra dangers, as at Granite Gorge, where great difficulty was experienced in getting a footing for instruments and rod stations."

"In spite of the steep walls and swift water, though, the survey line was carried through without a break, the surveyors often clinging perilously to small projections just above the swirling water to make their sights."

At some places, no foothold for walking could be found; for the canyons were so steep that all had to take to the boats. The Hirdsire Creek rapids were among the roughest. The boats tossed about like corks on the huge waves, many of which broke over the bows.

September 8, in running a catamaran, no preceding party had ever made. Kolb grazed a rock and lost an ear, but managed to extricate himself. The next man to run struck a rock on which his boat seemed to hang for a moment, the stern of the boat being badly smashed.

It was September 10, after camp had been made on a sandbar below Lava Falls, that the record rise in the river, which occasioned national alarm for the safety of the party, set in.

No one expected a rise of more than five or six feet. But time after time during the night, the boats had to be dragged higher and higher up a shelving shore of limestone. At one time, block and tackle had to be used to drag one of the boats to safety.

Felix Action Early
Felix, the cook, who went to bed 10 feet above the water, was flooded out at midnight. His plans had to be abandoned and he had to rescue his bed and clothes.

During the night the beds and the cook's outfit had to be moved three times. Before the action set in the river had risen no less than 21 feet.

At Separation Rapids, where the sheer walls forced everyone to risk, Kolb, Hirdsire and Lint ran all boats safely but the deckloads made the boats topheavy and they danced like corks, even after the cockpits were filled with water.

Freeman ran last, with La Rue and Moore clinging to the hatches.

Exciting Moments
"They had the thrill of their lives," Hirdsire says, "for the huge waves tossed the boat into the air and when it came down, bottom side up, they were thrown out between the boat and the rocks on the bank."

La Rue narrowly escaping being crushed.

"Freeman dived clear of the boat and came up a few yards from it, where he caught a rope. Blake and Dodge pushed out in their boat and hauled the men aboard. Freeman and Moore, holding hard to the upturned boat, towed it to quieter waters and righted it. All loose articles, such as hats, pipes and glasses were lost."

Such were the daily experiences, almost, for more than two months, of this little band of nine men who blazed the path of science through the heretofore uncharted course of one of our great rivers.

CONTENTMENT

Keeping away from fret and worry is a great aid to health and physical condition. The person who frets and worries over imaginary ills from imaginary causes will not have the buoyancy of spirit that should walk with him every day on the way to health and long life.

You may become a nervous wreck through causes that are easy to diagnose but difficult of treatment by any physician. Mental disturbances, such as fret, worry and pretense which bring on nervousness, have a direct and serious effect on digestion and health. They go hand in hand with indigestion, stomach disorders, headache, sluggish liver and diabetes. In fact, one may speak of worry as a short circuit of nerves to the brain. It burns out the vital tissues and gives no return for energy wasted.

This worry and nervous indulging about fear, envy, excitement or hate must be put aside by your own power of self-control and determination. To bask in the sunshine of contentment is a mental and physical condition well worth while and one that all should try to cultivate.

"The trouble seems to lie in making up your mind. When you have done this in regard to any task that seems to have been set for you, you can lie down to sleep and pleasant dreams, as the sailor does even in a storm."

Even Chronic Rheumatic Swellings in Knee, Elbow, Shoulder or Finger Joints Yield to the Mighty Powerful Influence of JOINT-EASE

It's here, right in town and Green's drug store, toward the drugist, A. W. Dows and every live drugist has it. It's a low price remedy, to be sure, but that doesn't stop it from taking the kinks, lameness or torture out of your troubled joints.

Joint-Ease is the name, so called because it is compounded solely for the purpose of relieving all joint ailments.

Just rub it on the tormented, lame joints and in just a few seconds it will penetrate to the bone and blessed comfort comes quickly.

It absorbs instantly and in so clean and stainless that you can rub it on often and get thereby, results much more quickly, when the joint is inflamed and the agony intense.

Being such a powerful counter irritant, it cannot help bringing speedy and helpful results in congestion, sore throat, chest colds, lumbago and neuralgia much quicker than almost any remedy you can buy.

But you must remember that it is for joint afflictions that it is mostly dispensed and its helpfulness will astonish you after all ordinary liniments and other treatments have failed.—Adv.

ACTIVITIES IN GIRLS' CITY CLUB

The ever popular "Mothers' Night" which is held by the Girls' City club as often as possible throughout the winter season, will have its first appearance of the season this evening when a fine entertainment program will be given by the committee in charge of the affair. Refreshments will also be served. Miss Mabel Sullivan is chairman of the committee and will be assisted by the Misses Mabel Hogan, Edith Blanchard, Mary Mulligan, Isabelle Storey and Anna Conway.

The Radio and the Cinders, two of the fastest girl bowling teams in the city, will meet tomorrow evening for the first game in a series and the members of the club are urged to attend the game to cheer and learn bowling technique from these well matched teams.

Thursday evening seven new units in millinery, dressmaking and Christmas novelties will be started and registration is now in progress. Miss Katherine Keyes will teach millinery, Miss Etta McDermott novelties, and Miss Mulqueeny dressmaking. At 7:30 those interested will meet in the club rooms and proceed to the Auditorium to attend the Parker lecture session.

Friday evening the Discussion Group will be addressed by Mr. H. H.

Brace, Psychology professor at the Lowell Normal school, who will continue the course begun but recently on "Woman's Place in the World."

All interested hitters will leave the club rooms at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon for a cross country sprint. The Club dancing party will be chaperoned by Mrs. Clarence M. Weed Saturday evening.

The opening meeting of the Dramatic class will be held Sunday evening at 4 o'clock and any person interested in the club may join. A get-together of the cast of "Oh, Oh, Cindy" will be held at 6 o'clock Sunday evening. It is possible that Mr. Rowland, director of the play, will be present. Supper will be served at the club and anyone wishing to attend should notify Miss Sadie Melanson or Miss Alice Coyne.

Y. M. C. A. FUND DRIVE TO END THURSDAY

The fund drive of the Young Men's Christian association has passed the half-way mark, $6500 of the desired $12,000 already having been subscribed. At the luncheon to be held next Thursday noon at the Y.M.C.A. it is expected that the drive will close with the desired mark reached.

AUTOS COLLIDE AND TURN TURTLE

A spectacular accident occurred yesterday afternoon at the corner of Pawtucket and School streets when two machines collided and turned turtle, causing injuries to the drivers of both machines and badly damaging the automobiles.

One machine was the property of the Lowell Gas Light company and was driven by Clarence L. Van Horn of 15 Brookings street. The second machine was owned and operated by James Adams of 15 Tolman avenue. The Adams machine was going up

Pawtucket street and as it was abreast of School street the Gas company's machine came down School street.

William Hallowell of Third avenue, an occupant of the Adams car, was cut by flying glass and so, with the two drivers, was taken to the Corporation hospital. He was later released after his injuries had been treated. Neither of the drivers was badly injured.

HOUSE CLEANING AT THE CAPITOL AT WASHINGTON—VETS' BUREAU

(Special to The Sun) WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—Uncle Sam has just finished housecleaning. Every nook and corner of the capitol has been the victim of raids from mechanics, engineers, plumbers, carpenters, electricians, and others. It shines like the proverbial "new top."

It has taken more than 400 men and women to do the job, working overtime ever since the vice president and the speaker of the house rapped their gavels at noon, the 4th of last March and declared that the 65th congress had opened its session. Home folks who clean house with the aid of a mop, a scrub-woman and perhaps one small vacuum cleaner, can shut their eyes for a minute and put themselves in the place of David Lynn, architect of the capitol, on whose shoulders rests the entire responsibility of setting the house in order before the incoming congress takes possession at 12 o'clock on the noon of December 3rd.

The "estate" at the capitol is placed at a valuation of $10,000,000. The main building is 551 feet long and 350 feet wide. It has countless windows, miles of flooring, and more than 500 doors. It has wonderful mural decorations, a half dozen kitchens and dining rooms, it has its own power plant, its own carpenter shop, and more baths and other plumbing than the ordinary small town can boast of; and all this in ship-shape order, cleaned and put in ship-shape order during the congressional recess. The capitol is like a city under one roof—more than 3000 persons spend their working day there during each

Could Not Feel Better, Says Lowell Woman

After Years of Suffering Feels Fine, Thanks to Dreco

Miss Edith Lancelotti, 21 Harwood st., Lowell, Mass., says:

"Never did I realize until lately what a wonderful valuable thing good health is."

"For years I was thin, worn out and continuously tired. I could not eat without enduring terrible pain from indigestion. My liver was sluggish, my blood was thin. In the winter I was always freezing. I showed my condition in my face. My cheeks sunken, with black rings beneath my eyes."

"I could not sleep, having to get up so many times. My kidneys were in so weak a condition. Everything that I tried failed to help me or give me a bit of relief."

"I started taking Dreco and soon my health improved. Now I sleep, can eat everything without suffering from indigestion. My system is clear and healthy due to a good working liver. I feel stronger. The tired, worried, listless feeling has disappeared."

"If you want to enjoy relief from the pains that take the pleasure away from living, my advice is to take Dreco. Its powers are marvelous."

Dreco is being specially introduced by Green's Drug Store and sold by druggists everywhere.—Adv.

The Pride of a Well-Dressed Woman

EVERY well-dressed woman takes great pride in the dainty, fresh appearance of her personal wear garments.

It is often difficult to get good results with ordinary starch that forms a sticky jelly when it cools. For this pasty starch clots and smears when you try to iron clothes.

All this is now overcome with Linit, the remarkable new starch discovery.

Linit is a scientific starch—distinctly different from ordinary, old-fashioned starches. Linit gives that soft, cool, pliable finish to all fabrics, making even cotton goods look and feel like expensive linen.

Linit makes a THIN, "MILKY" MIXTURE free-running like water, which is quickly absorbed by the fabric, thus saving the time and labor of "smearing on," which was customary with the old-fashioned starches. The Linit mixture does not present the stiff, jelly-like appearance of ordinary starch. This is why you will find it easier to iron with Linit.

WILDCAT WARNER GIVES HIS LOWDOWN ON THE MAJOR'S PARROT

of the work and the unavoidable expenses.

When the outside of those great, white marble buildings are cleaned, twice each year, the fire department lends a hand, and engines, hose wagons and extension ladders play their part in scouring the dirt and dust from the massive outside walls.

Went in to Rest

In front of the little chapel of the Church of the Ascension is a small sign which reads, "Come in, Rest and Pray." Several days ago, a passing wayfarer took that invitation very literally and when the rector looked into the chapel late one afternoon, he saw a man stretched out on a bench in one corner. "Are you ill, my friend?" inquired the rector kindly. "Ill?" queried the man in surprise. "Why, I'm not ill, I'm just taking a nap. You see, said, 'Come in and Rest' and as I'd been tramping 'round all day, it looked good to me. Have I done wrong?" "Not a bit of it," laughed the rector. "We will live up to our invitation. Make yourself comfortable." And the stranger went to sleep.

Veterans Bureau Again

There is a move towards putting the veterans bureau under some department and in charge of a cabinet officer, according to the best information coming from the White House.

Half a billion dollars were expended last year by the veterans bureau and the congress is said to believe that organization should not be merely a bureau, but should be part of an organized department with a cabinet officer responsible for the carrying on of the great work.

Department of Education

It is also said the president favors a department of education to be created and include many bureaus now working independently.

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, has been one of the leaders in the senate and wielded strong influence, in all matters educational that have come up for discussion. The senator believes that much of the unrest throughout the country would be dispelled if the people were brought, through education, into closer touch with the policies and aims of the United States. BAPTIST UNION HAS ITS MONTHLY SESSION

The Lowell Baptist union held its monthly dinner and meeting last night at Central Baptist church. President Harold F. Howe presided over the business meeting. Rev. James E. Norcross, D.D., pastor of the First Baptist church of Brooklyn, spoke of his recent camping trip in the Sierra Nevada.

The reports of Treasurer Richard Gault and Charles A. Gardner of the social committee were read and ordered filed. Mr. Trull reported a membership increase in Baptist churches of Lowell. Rev. J. A. Lyman gave a brief sketch of the work of the French Baptist mission, supported by the union. An excellent dinner was served by the women of Central Baptist church.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using the well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or laryngeal asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid cheap imitations. Look for the druggist for 52½ ounces of Pinex with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

FRATERNAL NEWS

The British-American Social club observed Armistice day at the Free church, Middlesex street, Saturday evening with a program of speeches and entertainment following a bountiful supper. President W. N. Axon presided and gave the principal address of the evening. He was followed by Vice President W. S. Dawson who acted as chairman of the evening. The following program was given: Piano solo, Miss Gladys Walton, song, H. Ashton; reading, Mrs. E. Clegg; duets, Miss M. Buchanan and D. Dobson, both of whom were attired in Scotch costumes; song, Miss Dyson; armistice message, D. Dobson; concertina selection of old songs, E. Clegg; song, G. Whalley.

The supper was in charge of the following committee: Mrs. C. Holmes, chairman, Mrs. A. Vincent, Mrs. S. Cogswell, Mrs. W. N. Axon, Mrs. W. Logan, Mrs. A. Tetro and Miss M. Axon. The entertainment committee consisted of D. Dobson and W. S. Dawson. The accompanist of the evening was Miss Gladys Walton.

A special meeting of Varnest Staff association, I.O.O.F., was held Sunday morning for the purpose of rehearsing the gold degree work. This degree will be exemplified by the local team at Lawrence tonight. All members of the team will meet at 8.45 in Grafton hall. This degree will be exemplified in Lowell on the third Monday of this month and Nashua lodge, Littleton, will send down a class to go through with the local class.

A very successful fair was held by Evening Star Rebekah lodge, 30, in Odd Fellows hall, Middlesex street, last Saturday.

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT AND DRUNKENNESS PAINS AND ACHES ALL OVER BODY

Officer Francis M. O'Loughlin had much the better of a battle exchange with Martin Harron, 25, of Exchange place, last night, with the result that Harron was placed under arrest for drunkenness and assaulting an officer. In district court this morning, both complaints were continued until Nov. 20.

The trouble started when the officer was called to a building at the corner of Middlesex and Thordike streets to suppress a disturbance in which Harron figured. He started to fight when he reached the street and attempted to make a get-away. His two companions did escape, but Harron was subdued and taken to the station.

In the struggle, Officer O'Loughlin received a slight bruise near his left eye.

He started to fight when he reached the street and attempted to make a get-away. His two companions did escape, but Harron was subdued and taken to the station.

An entertainment was given under the direction of Sister Eva Wheeler in which the following took part: Mrs. Arthur Wheeler, Mrs. Marian Vassell, Mrs. P. Malloy, Miss Dorothy Hillson, Mrs. Lillian Maribel, Mrs. Arthur Trueby, Miss Mildred Stevens, Miss Florence Chippendale and Mrs. Sarah Lavergne.

At the regular meeting of Gen. Adelbert Ames camp, U.S.W.V., last night in Memorial hall an unexpected feature was the visit of several out-of-town officers of the Veterans. Among those present were Past Department Commander Joseph F. Scott of Cambridge, Dept. Commander J. M. Hoban of Waltham and Dept. Aid J. F. Ford of Boston. Each of the guests was called upon to give a short talk and Commander W. R. Jervis, Past Commander Frank Dodge and Surgeon D. C. B. Livingston also addressed the meeting.

Roxbury Woman Tells of Condition in Which She Was Left by Attack of Influenza

Grip, or influenza, generally leaves the blood thin and the nerves weak, a condition that robs the body of its defense against disease germs, causes every slight cold to develop into neuritis, sciatica or rheumatism, and makes its victim miserable because of a lack of strength and ambition, loss of appetite and inability to enjoy the ordinary pleasures of life.

"An attack of influenza left me in a very run-down condition," says Mrs. Edward Whalen, of No. 40 Blue Hill avenue, Roxbury, Boston, Mass., "and I grew continually worse. I was very weak, had no ambition and would get tired very easily. I had pains and aches all over my body. My blood was thin so that the color faded from my cheeks and lips. My appetite was poor and I was subject to spells of extreme nervousness."

"A friend who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with benefit recommended them to me and I finally decided to give them a trial. They helped me from the first box. I could see that I had more ambition and I did not wake up in the morning all tired out as I had been doing ever since I had the 'flu.' I gained in strength right along and my appetite improved. After the fourth box I was entirely recovered and my nerves were as strong as ever. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills helped me wonderfully and I am glad to recommend them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., on receipt of price, 60 cents per box. Send for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."

REV. ULLOM SPEAKER AT Y MEN'S CLUB

Rev. John T. Ulloa, pastor of the Matthews Memorial P. M. church, addressed the Y Men's club at its regular meeting in the Y.M.C.A. last evening, Nov. 10, at 8 o'clock. What will be played and musical numbers will be given. Refreshments will be served. All comrades are invited to attend.

The regular meeting of Washington council, 48, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will be held this evening in I.O.O.F. hall, Bridge street.

A regular meeting of Chevalier Temple, Pythian Sisters, will be held tonight in Highland hall, Branch street.

TO ESTABLISH GREEK REPUBLIC

Report King Forced to Leave
Country to Permit Proclamation of Republic

Ministerial Circles in London View Situation With Much Anxiety

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Ministerial circles in London are without definite news of the uncertain political situation in Greece at the present moment, but they view with much anxiety the unofficial reports that King George probably will be forced to leave the country so as to permit the establishment of a republic.

Great Britain, like the United States, has financial claims against Greece, and it is felt that the proclamation of a republic amid such chaotic conditions as now prevail, would make the payment of those claims or even the interest on them remote.

The United States advanced to Greece $15,000,000 under the "Liberty bond act" and the interest on this amount is due to date almost another million. While the London government, like that at Washington, has withheld its recognition of King George, who inherited such a legacy from the late King Constantine, it has warmly endorsed the young monarch's neutrality throughout the fierce party strife in Greece and his efforts to re-establish his country in the good opinion of the world.

It is recognized that George has been little more than a harmless addendum to the throne since his father's death, but at the same time, European chancelleries feel he is probably the one man acceptable to both the Venizelos and royalist parties who could tide the country through the farcical political wrangling which since the ruthless killing of M. Gounaris and his five colleagues has poisoned the whole national life.

Little hope is entertained that the establishment of a republic there would bring anything like peace or order. Venizelos, himself, who is said by observers to be probably the only man of sufficient calibre and popularity to drag Greece out of her present position, has said that any violent

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 336 K. Marcellus avenue, Manhattan, N. Y. Better cut out this notice and show it any other who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—Adv.

FIRE IN HOWARD STREET
An alarm from box 31 at 7:22 a'clock this morning called the fire apparatus to 166-168 Howard street where a fire had started in the partitions near a chimney. Evidently the fire had made considerable headway before being discovered as it had spread between the floors as well as in the walls before the firemen arrived. Before the fire was extinguished it was necessary to tear down considerable plaster and to rip up the kitchen and dining room floors in the upper part of the house. The house is owned by Jacob Finberg, who occupies the first floor and the upper section is occupied by William Brand.

TO REGULATE MOTOR TRAFFIC

It is quite likely that the next legislature will pass a bill regulating the operation of motor trucks and another dealing with the question of securing greater safety on the public highways.

For some time past, conferences have been in progress, relative to the best method of dealing with motor trucks that are doing a freight business for pay and also with the bus lines that get licenses from towns to carry passengers. The railroads complain that they cannot make any changes or go into the bus business without permission from the State Department of Public Utilities; but bus lines are started on the approval of local authorities without consulting that department. It is intimated also that more rigid restrictions will be imposed upon trucks relative to overloading, the rate of speed on the highways and insurance, which it is expected will be made compulsory. There is also a sentiment in favor of specifying certain routes for trucks in order that they may be prevented from cutting up the best roads in the commonwealth and from scattering all over the highways of blitheness. The railroads complain that the trucks have cut into their freight business and street railways charge that busses are taking away much of the revenue that formerly went into their coffers. The truck men are stubbornly opposed to being placed under the direction of Public Utilities and if any legal regulatory measure is to be put in force, they are in favor of having the Public Works department in charge of its administration.

It is understood that several bills have already been submitted for action by the next legislature for the purpose of banishing drunken drivers from the public highways. Some of these measures provide heavy penalties. One would provide a minimum sentence of three months and a maximum of three years in prison for the first offense, while at the same time the operator's license is automatically revoked and after his final conviction it cannot be renewed for a long period.

If a penalty of this kind is to be imposed for the first offense one might naturally suppose that the second or third offense would run up to life imprisonment or even electrocution. This may sound harsh, but when it is considered that an astounding number of deaths are due annually in this state to the operation of motor vehicles by drunken drivers, there is certainly good reason for imposing the severest penalties.

EX-PRESIDENT WILSON'S APPEAL

Armistice Day brought another significant utterance from ex-President Woodrow Wilson, relative to the conditions in Europe and to our alleged failure to participate in the rehabilitation of the distressed nations on that continent, following the close of the great war. In his brief speech sent out by radio on Saturday night, the ex-president reproached the government of the United States as lacking courage in not having joined the allied powers with which this country was associated during the war, in restoring peace and settling the reparations disputes and differences by which the treaty of Versailles has been reduced to waste paper. He practically said that we betrayed the cause for which our soldiers fought in abandoning the allied powers as soon as the hostilities had ceased.

With all due respect to the ex-president this statement cannot be accepted as justified. The United States has not played a cowardly part with Europe. Mr. Wilson seems to forget that this nation is not a part of Europe, and that the fact of our having saved the allies from defeat, does not make us their perpetual guardians.

Mr. Wilson was overcome with emotion by the ovation tendered him on Armistice Day, but he managed to express his views on the European situation and particularly upon the attitude of the government at Washington in holding aloof from negotiations to promote peace and restore harmony in Europe. His final declaration was that "he had not the least anxiety about the triumph of the principles he had stood for and that he had seen fools resist the will of Providence before and had also seen their destruction, as well as come upon those who resist these again—utter destruction and contempt. That we shall prevail is as sure as that God reigns."

That is a strong statement surely, but there is reason to believe that it reflects the feelings of the ex-president moved to deep emotion by the ovation of a great throng of 20,000 people. It goes out to the world, however, as the voice of a man who presided over the destinies of this nation during the greatest of all wars and who now in broken health, it might be said on the brink of the grave, makes an appeal for the support of the principles and policies by which he had hoped to establish and maintain universal peace. It is the voice of a disappointed man who imagines that civilization will crumble unless his ideals are adopted.

SEN. UNDERWOOD'S ADDRESS

C. S. Senator Underwood of Alabama, a very promising candidate for the democratic nomination for president, was the speaker at a demonstration on Boston common in observance of Armistice Day. Underwood is decidedly the ablest statesman who has thus far been mentioned as a candidate for president. His long experience in congress and his active ability, particularly as a statesman and economist, give him a distinction which can be equaled by but few men in the country.

The subject in Boston as might be expected was truly democratic. He spoke of the constitution as guaranteeing the personal rights and lib-ties of the individual and the first document of the kind in the history of the world to make any such guarantee. This is a democracy, but even in a democracy, as Senator Underwood showed, the majority may go wrong and infringe upon the rights of the individual. It may become tyrannical and an enemy of mankind so far as individual liberties are concerned. It was to prevent such a possibility that the fathers of the constitution embodied therein the guarantee of individual liberty.

In the course of his address, Senator Underwood made it clear that any movement that would discriminate against any citizen because of his religious belief, is opposed to the fundamental principles of the constitution. If this belief were generally applied throughout the country, we should have no such organization as the Ku Klux Klan; and various other organizations that advocate similar principles would also quickly disappear. The country will be benefited by the diffusion of the sentiments expressed in Senator Underwood's address on Armistice Day.

TARIFF AND PROTECTION

For the formation of a permanent association, for an attempt to take the tariff out of politics, for supporting the present tariff act with some changes, the Western Tariff Association recently met in Denver. The association's object, of course, is to judge, when necessary, the sides of the president, congress and the tariff commission, with the spur of western tariff desires. Mr. Coolidge has already sent the association the assurance of his "sympathetic interest."

One of the major addresses at the convention was by John M. Parker, governor of Louisiana, who now runs as a democrat in politics. In 1916 he was a progressive, a nominee for vice president on the progressive ticket, but the party passed away before the election. In private life, Mr. Parker is a leading man in the cotton textile fields.

This southerner declares that the tariff question is more important today than ever before in our history and "should not be made a football for designing politicians." He believes that America cannot possibly compete with those nations in which "labor is cheap, whose wants are limited, whose only hopes are for existence and who have few ideals." At the present time he is hindering prosperity in Europe, it should be changed, providing letting down the bars will not result in closing American industries. Yet American industries cannot flourish without an outlet for surplus production in lands across the seas, and that is where the Louisiana governor is particularly emphatic in his characterization of present day industrial demands for larger distribution markets. He fails to make clear, however, that the excessively high tariff now in force has caused some countries to extend their trade elsewhere and as a result the foreign demand for our products is lacking.

SHORTAGE IN SKILLED TRADES

Tile plumbers and expert carpenters are scarce in employment circles of the state today. Numerous demands by employers on the public employment offices to supply plumbers and helpers, have not been filled. The same conditions exist to a large extent today in Lowell. The plumbing trades were never so busy. Many master plumbers have had difficulty in finding a sufficient number of men to carry out their contracts.

Other New England cities report "depleted markets in skilled plumbers." The calls for painters and paperhangers have been incessant also. In country towns, home-bound members of this class of workmen were never busier. There has been a fair demand for carpenters, which has been filled after delays.

TO REDUCE TAXES

Secretary Mellon announces a plan by which income, luxury and other taxes will be reduced by 25 per cent if congress adopts his recommendation. That change will certainly be welcomed as it is high time that luxury taxes were discontinued. Even the admission to theatres and other entertainments is still subject to a war tax. Mellon's plan would put an end to that and would also reduce the burdensome surtaxes of which we hear so much.

The tax reduction will assist naturally in restoring business activity and it will put an end to many of the exemptions now possible for those who put their money in non-taxable securities. This program would undoubtedly be a great incentive to industrial activity; and it is to be hoped it can be adopted without sidetracking any other necessary expenditures.

THE RED CROSS

The Red Cross drive is now on. We have had a great many drives recently, but none more worthy than the Red Cross. This is an annual appeal which should meet a generous response. It is the annual call and is of national scope. This is an occasion on which Lowell will be expected to do her full duty. The Red Cross has always fared well here and it is expected that in the present year the good record will be maintained.

Why do the Ku Klux Klan burn the cross? Is there any special object in consigning the emblem of Christianity to the flames? The exhibition seems childish.

"High Road" Asparagus

A very loving couple had just returned from their honeymoon. "Hilda, shall we go and pick it together, dearest," said George, "I'll buy some asparagus ready for cooking." To which Hilda replied indignantly, "George, dearest, it will be beautiful. You shall pick it and I will hold the ladder."

"How silly of you, darling! Those aren't bones. Those are shells," she said. "Yes, shell! Don't you remember you said you liked turkey with oyster stuffing?"

His Own Fault

A Texas attorney was delivering a Fourth of July address. He had held forth mostly for nearly an hour, apparently without getting anywhere. At length he stopped, and then said in impressive tones: "I pause to ask myself a question." A voice from the back of the hall shouted: "Better not. You'll only get a fool answer."—The Lawyer and Banker.

He Got a Job

An Irishman who was out of work went aboard a vessel that was in the harbor and asked the captain if he could put him to work. "Well," said the captain, at the time heading the Irishman a piece of rope, if you can find some one to put rope you shall have some work." The Irishman took hold of one end of the rope, and showing it to the captain, said: "That's one end of the rope, but the other end of the rope is in the captain's hand before said: 'And that's two ends, your honor.' Then, taking hold of both ends of the rope, he threw it overboard, saying: 'And there's another end to it, your honor.' He was engaged.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Fame is indeed fleeting. Let a man prominent in public life give up his duties and soon he is almost forgotten. Just to cite an instance, today I received a copy of the Elks' Magazine and found therein an article "Once Abroad a Whaler," written by George Creel. I started to read it when my glance caught a picture of a steam-whaler and I stopped reading. We of New England know only the whalers of other days, the grand square riggers that presented such an inspiring sight when homeward or outward bound with every gull of the breeze. Before turning the page I found myself asking "George Creel, George Creel, surely I know him." It wasn't for several seconds that I finally recalled he was war-time chairman of the committee of public information, America's official censor.

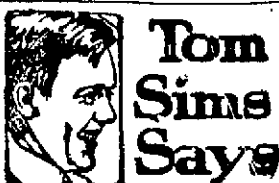

I mentioned this to a friend and he said "that's nothing; you're not shipping old man" and suggested I ask the next ten supposedly well-informed persons I met who George Creel was. I followed the suggestion and only four knew. Which reminds me you yourself would probably be startled if asked to name off-hand former presidents. Try it and see.

Construction work on the new Elks home is proceeding slowly but thoroughly. I stopped around to look at it the other day and found the workmen busy in completing the basement work. The building is expected to be fully ready for use next May.

Randolph Reed, secretary of the Lowell Radio club, gives us the interesting information that there are over 40 stations holding a government license in Lowell and vicinity. The best running, these, however, are not of the crowd, many were installed for a short time by the novelty of the new "short" but are the old timers who ideal in code and know wireless from A to Z. They have held communication with many parts of the country and one was even so fortunate as to be heard in Greenland by Donald McMillan. For the present they have abandoned the room formerly held in Merrimack street and now, a location in some quiet spot of the city, but they still keep in touch with one another for the advancement of their mutual hobby.

The shores of beautiful Lake Umbagog, sometimes known as Island pond, and situated in Dunstable, are being ruthlessly attacked by a group of loggers who have set in operation the old sawmill that lay idle for so many years at the upper end of the lake. Not a twig is being left on the side of the hills surrounding the water, and the purpose is evidently being carried out of converting it all to barn land. In the middle of the lake stands a small island about 25 square feet in area, bearing the boundary stone of three towns, namely, Dunstable, Tyngsboro and Reading. Formerly, it was a fashionable summer colony, but about 50 years ago the two towns were destroyed, and it reverted to the wilderness, until the Girl Scouts started camping there a few years ago. And now the loggers have discovered it and the path of progress is marked along its shores by ever-rising piles of boards for homes in the cities.

Sergeant T. J. Kimball, of the local army recruiting station, has in his possession an interesting table of statistics compiled for his purpose by the headquarters at Washington. These figures report to show that out of every 100 men of the age of 25 years, 64 will still be living at the age of 65. Of these 1 will be rich, 1 well off, 5 still earning their own living, and the remaining 54 will be

CHECK FOR FIREMEN'S RELIEF ASSOCIATION

The treasury of the Lowell Firemen's Relief association is $100 richer, a check for that amount having been received from Andrew P. Reach for the good work of the firemen in fighting the fire in the Elks building recently. Mr. Reach is part owner of the Elks block. This is the second donation to the firemen's fund made in connection with the Elks fire. The first was made by the Gray Furniture company, occupants of the store next to the Elks building.

WATCHMAN ON GUARD AT CENTRAL BRIDGE

Another portion of Central bridge dropped into the Merrimack about 2:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon and left a crack six feet wide which kept a watchman on guard all night and until an early hour this morning, when the break was repaired. The break occurred near the Centralville entrance to the bridge on the incoming railroad track.

RED CROSS WORKERS GET NEW MEMBERS

Three hundred and twenty-eight new members were enrolled by local Red Cross workers yesterday—the opening day of the nation-wide membership campaign. There will be no personal solicitation for funds this year in Lowell and vicinity. Every donor will be presented with a button and a window flag on which to paste extra crosses for each member of the family who becomes a member of the Red Cross by giving one dollar.

Headquarters of the drive in Lowell are maintained at the Union National bank, where Mrs. George A. Leahy, director of the local campaign, has her office. Other banks maintaining similar booths are the Appleton National bank, Lowell Trust Co. and Middlesex National bank. The booth in Liggett's store will be kept open during business hours.

BILLERICA NEWS

Historic Box to Be Opened 100 Years Hence

The members of the Billerica Historical society held the final exercises of sealing the historic box, containing the date of present day history which will be examined and read by the Billerica residents in 2023. The exercises were held in the Bennett public library. The box which contains the data was made by Bartholomew Hays; it is copper covered and lined with galvanized iron, so it is safe to say the data will be intact one hundred years hence.

The officers of the society are: President, Dr. Warren A. Stearns; vice president, Edward F. Dickinson; secretary, Mrs. Clara Sexton; treasurer, T. Frank Lyons.

The North Billerica Baptist church will hold its annual fair and sale of work next Thursday evening, Nov. 15, in the vestry of the church. Cafeteria lunch will be served by the Philanthia club, and an entertainment will be given by Mrs. Helle Harrington Hall, Miss Marjorie Colton, Miss Violet Higson and William Hyde.

Miss Mabel Sullivan who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis, has arrived home after recuperating at the home of her brother in North Andover.

Mrs. Timothy Mahoney is convalescent after a serious operation. Her many friends wish her speedy recovery.

The Billerica granite held a meeting last Thursday evening in I.O.O.F. hall and the following officers were elected for the year:

Master, Maude Gage; overseer, Arthur Hallenborg; lecturer, Adolph Stenroos; steward, Ruth Hildenborg; assistant steward, John Poney; chaplain, Rev. J. Harold Dale; treasurer, Clarence A. Buniman; secretary, Clara Dunfour; gatekeeper, Alida Clary; cooks, Lella Krammer, Pomonah, Harriet Farmer; lady assistant steward, Irma Ohlson; executive committee for three years) Pearl Kenney.

MACHINES SMASHED BUT NOBODY HURT

Augusto P. Sarre and Milton Stewart, both of Chelmsford, narrowly escaped serious injury early yesterday morning when their machines collided at Billerica street and Lowell road. Although neither was hurt both machines were badly damaged.

Sarre was coming to his place of business in this city in his Essex coach when the accident occurred. Stewart was driving a Ford touring car. The Sarre car was pushed onto the sidewalk by the impact and toppled over. Mr. Sarre was lifted from the car by Henry Erickson, who witnessed the accident.

NOTHING LEFT

Our stock at 223 Central St. was practically all destroyed. But our good friends, the manufacturers and wholesalers, have been more than kind, in fact we learn that we have many real friends in our trouble.

Merchandise in quantity and variety has been shipped with wonderful promptness and accuracy. This with four registered pharmacists places us in position once more to give A-1 prescription service.

School Teachers!

Do you know that the most famous poems of history, the poems which are always the favorites with boys and girls, are being reprinted in the Boston Daily Globe?

In many schools these poems are being used in the class room.

NOTICE

Will the person who was seen taking the overcoat from Associate Hall last Saturday night, return the same to the check box and avoid further trouble.

Bertin Braley's Daily Poem DIET

The Fat Lady said,
"Well, of course, you may scoff.
I DO look overfed
But I can't take it off.
I eat like a fay,
Yet I'm gaining, it seems."
(And she nibbled away
At some chocolate creams.)

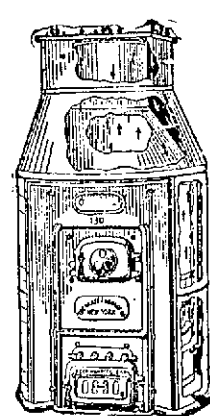

"For breakfast I munch
Naught but toast that is dry;
Only salad for lunch
And no pastry or pie,
Yet I still put on weight—
It is Fate, so I judge."
(And she airily ate
Seven pieces of fudge.)

"Well, it only proves that
Though you scarce eat a crumb
If you're meant to be fat
It is fat you'll become."
(Then she sugared her tea,
While bewailing her beam,
And ate two plates or three
Of delicious ice cream.)

BUT DADDY ISN'T COMING

Daddy is awfully late tonight. And these five little waifs can't understand why. And why, they ask, are all the neighbors coming over to see mama? Nobody has told them yet that their father isn't coming home tonight—or tomorrow night, either. For their daddy, Joe Gurak, was one of the 27 men killed in the explosion in Glen Rogers Mine in Beckley, W. Va. Besides these five is a baby sleeping in the front-room crib. And Mrs. Gurak came from Poland only two weeks ago.

your lady who had two Aunts that were opposed to you on the grounds that you were the daughter of an actress and necessarily wild. How would you meet this situation, especially if you were the opposite, and how would you succeed in winning a young man who proved to be a professed woman-hater?

All these problems are cleverly solved in "Just Like a Woman," which opened its first local engagement at the Hialto yesterday. You will experience an evening's entertainment by learning how Peggy Dean successfully succeeded in teaching her Aunts a lesson and at the same time winning the man of her choice. The method she employed was quite unusual, so much so, that one is held for the entire engagement of the story. Marguerite de la Motte in the role of Peggy Dean does one of the finest bits of acting that has been seen in some time.

The supporting members in the cast include, Ralph Graves, George Fawcett, J. Frank Glendon and Julia Crishoun.

The added feature "Youth to Youth" is concerned with the plight of a beautiful musical star, whom all New York worshipping the quick conversation in which her morals are discussed. She accepts a position with a small troupe of barnstorming players, under an assumed name, and falls in love with a young farmer whom she meets while playing one of the rural towns.

It is this young man's ambition for the actress which almost ruins her happiness. The mysterious disappearance is explained, and unlooked for complications set in which ensure the continued bliss of the young lovers. Billie Dove is fine in the leading role while Cullen Landis as the young farmer and Noah Beery as a theatrical manager do excellent work.

Sinclair Lewis' "Main Street" is announced as the feature for Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Even if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love the pleasant taste of "California Fig Syrup." A teaspoonful never fails to clean the liver and bowels. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! you must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.—Adv.

Mr. Wilfred Bouthillier and Miss Jeannette Luthardt, two prominent young people of St. Joseph's parish were united in the bonds of matrimony at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon in St. Joseph's rectory by Rev. Augustin Graton, O.S.B. The couple were attended by Mr. Alexis Clermont, uncle of the bride and Mr. Gaudin Piquera, brother-in-law of the bride. The bride wore a gown of white georgette crepe and a veil caught up with ribbons of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. Following the ceremony supper was served at the home of the bride's parents, 2 Herriek avenue. After the reception the couple left on an extended wedding trip and upon their return will make their home at 2 Herriek ave.

Hilton—Owens
Mr. Luther B. Hilton, and Miss Louise M. Owens were united in marriage at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon in St. Margaret's rectory by the pastor, Rev. Charles J. Galligan. The bride was attired in gray tulle gown with hat to match and carried a bouquet of roses. Mr. John H. Owens, brother of the bride, acted as best man. Following the ceremony a supper and reception was tendered the bride and groom at the home of the bride's parents in Shaw st. Mr. and Mrs. Hilton left later in the evening for New York and Washington and upon their return will make their home at 245 Shaw street.

Herdman—Rockwood
Mr. Arthur Herdman of West Chelmsford and Miss Dorothy Wellington Rockwood of Lunenburg were united in marriage at 6 o'clock last Wednesday evening at St. Anne's Episcopal church by the rector, Rev. Appleton Grantham. They were attended by Mrs. Clifford Herdman and Mr. Clifford Herdman, brother of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony a reception was tendered the bride and groom at the home of the bridegroom's parents in West Chelmsford. Mr. and Mrs. Herdman left during the course of the evening on an extended honeymoon trip to Canada.

usual picture and grips the heart of the audience from beginning to end. The scene of the story is laid in Vienna, the gayest capital in the world before the World War. The story changes from court life to the Prater, Vienna's Coney Island, and the characters of the story are from both these far different spheres. Count Max Hohenegg is the hero of the picture and at times is also the villain. He is of an old established family of Austrian nobility and is a right hand man of the Emperor. Under command of the Emperor he is to marry the daughter of the minister of war, a countess in her own right, for whom he has high esteem but no love.

Several weeks before his marriage he goes with several companions to the Prater and there meets and falls in love with Agnes, an organ-grinder for the merry-go-round. He realizes that as a Count he would be shunned by her so he introduces himself as a necktie salesman. A great part of the picture is given over to the life of Agnes in the Prater and of a hunchback who is her "best friend." Incidentally, the Count gains the love of Agnes and all goes well until his wedding day. Then he is discovered by Agnes in his court office and she refuses to speak to him. The war comes and poverty strikes into the homes of poor and rich alike in Vienna. All the able-bodied men go into the service, with them Count Max. From this point on the story is carried along in a whirling vortex of action until the climax.

The scenery both of the court and of the Prater has never been excelled in any picture and the characters.

GREAT BRITAIN ABANDONS HOPE OF IMMEDIATE REPARATION INQUIRY

LONDON, Nov. 12.—(By the Associated Press) In consequence of the failure of the Franco-American negotiations over the scope of the proposed expert committee of inquiry, Great Britain has abandoned all thought of an immediate reparation inquiry, either with or without the participation of France.

Man Hunt Aboard Liner Manchuria

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—A unique man hunt aboard the steamship Manchuria ended today when Albert Rosenberg, who escaped from a cabin cell four days ago and scuttled himself "down below" appeared on deck and attempted to dive over the side as the vessel stood at the pier. Rosenberg was being returned to the United States to face a federal charge of tampering with registered, United States mail while master-at-arms on the Minnehaha.

Von Seeckt Dictator of Germany

LONDON, Nov. 12.—A Central News despatch from Berlin today says it is generally expected that Gen. Von Seeckt, commander-in-chief of the Reichswehr will be appointed dictator of Germany. Meanwhile, adds the message, trouble is brewing in Nuremberg, where communists and Hitler troops are gathering in large numbers, the watchword being "Red" against "White."

Only Autos on Island Damaged in Crash

NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 12.—Two automobiles, the only machines on the island of Chappaquiddick, southeast of the Vineyard, were both damaged in a head-on collision today. Antone Bettincourt, the driver of one of the machines received a slight cut on the forehead, while George Silvia, the driver of the other was uninjured.

Italian Archbishop Killed by Fall in Well

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Monsignor Andreoli, archbishop of Recaniti and Loreto, Italy, was killed by a fall into a dried well 40 feet deep in the courtyard of his palace, says a Rome despatch to the Daily Mail. The archbishop was superintending repair of the well.

ARMISTICE DAY DINNER PRES. COOLIDGE BEGINS BY LOWELL AD CLUB WORK ON HIS MESSAGE

An Armistice day dinner featured the Lowell Ad club meeting in Liberty hall yesterday. Lieut. H. B. Leckie, sang an evocative of a French soldier, telling his blind parent of the coming of the Americans in a realistic manner that brought an ovation from the audience at the conclusion, after which several patriotic songs were sung by the members of the club.

Pres. E. J. Conney asked Hon. James R. Casey to take charge of the meeting. Mr. Casey spoke a few words on the fitness of Armistice day being celebrated by the people of this country, and told of the need of the citizen soldiers in any country being prepared to fight for a righteous cause, declaring that America is just such a nation.

The speaker of the day, Clement A. Norton, superintendent of Commonwealth Pier, Boston, was then introduced by Mr. Casey and delivered to the members of the club the work and purpose of the American Legion. The officers of Lowell post, 87, were present as invited guests to hear Mr. Norton speak.

Armistice day will have an increasing significance every year, said Mr. Norton, as the old soldiers of the great war become more unified, the bonds of the Legion and the usefulness of that organization increases. The outstanding fact that all our soldiers overseas brought back with them, is the great desirability of living here, to any other nation in the world. The advantages here are forcibly recognized by the inhabitants of other countries, as every band of emigrants racing for admission here testifies.

Mr. Norton hoped to see the day when people desiring admission to America would be required to pass a literary test at our foreign consulates before sailing, in order that there would not be so many heart-breaking refusals of admission after arrival.

He spoke of the growing element of radicalism in this country, where there are now over 15,000,000 radicals, and declared that the best bulwark of the home owners in this country was the American Legion with its millions of men who have offered their lives for the nation might go on existing in its present state. The Legion stands for freedom of religion, is unhampered by racial prejudices, and desires the Americanization of all aliens in this country through the medium of education in order that any man may stand as much chance of succeeding as his brother regardless of birth, poverty, or other hindrances.

In closing he asked for the support of all good citizens for the Legion, that it might grow to be a stabilizing

TRIAL OF SUIT FOR $15,000,000

DETHAM, Nov. 12.—George J. Willett took the stand as the first witness today in the trial of his suit against Robert F. Herriek, Boston lawyer, and several Boston bankers and bank houses for $15,000,000 damages. The plaintiff alleges conspiracy to obtain control by fraudulent means of manufacturing concerns which had been managed and controlled by the former banking firm of Willett, Sears and Co.

$12,500,000 FOR AIR SERVICE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Estimates approved by the budget director for the army air service during the next fiscal year call for an appropriation of $12,500,000, the same amount appropriated for the present year.

By its decision, the budget bureau awarded a plan for an appropriation of $25,000,000 annually for a period of years, worked out by a special army board.

ing influence in the community and aid in the forward progress of America as the greatest nation now existing on the earth.

Mr. Herriek introduced Sergeant Winn of the liquor force in Lowell, who consumed a few moments with a straight from the shoulder talk on the enforcement problem in Lowell, and proceeded to show that our city is one of the cleanest in the country in this respect. He quoted several prominent officials of the federal service and gave his assurance that there was nothing to worry anybody regarding our future troubles with the booze question.

Mr. Herriek asked whether in the opinion of the club members a formal protest should be made against certain outside newspapers which have been printing stories on the liquor situation in Lowell and after a short discussion it was voted that the best manner of treating the subject was with contempt, as being merely an advertising scheme.

K. K. K. ISSUE BARRED AT TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES IMPROVEMENT TRIAL

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 12.—(By the Associated Press) The first attempt to inject the K.K.K. issue into the impeachment trial of Governor J. C. Walton failed today when the senate court by an oral vote refused to permit a witness to answer a question that bore directly on the governor's opposition to the organization.

Home D. Martin, who testified he had guarded the executive's residence at night on occasion during the last 18 months, had told the court the governor's life had been threatened.

"Wasn't that about the time Mr. Walton as mayor, issued a proclamation directed against the K.K.K.?" defense counsel asked.

The prosecution objected and Tom Anglin, president of the senate, moved that the reference to the Klan be stricken from the record. The court supported his motion by an oral vote.

UNION DELEGATES "BRAINESS"

LYNN, Nov. 12.—Lynn delegates to the joint council of the Amalgamated Shoe Workers union were described as brainless, because of their recent vote to turn down the proposition to leave questions relative to shoe rules and conditions as well as prices lists to the state board of arbitration in a statement made today by Business Agent Joseph A. Gauron of the heel workers union. He also stated that many business agents were deliberately deceiving the union in regard to real conditions in the Lynn shoe factories.

The motion to refer all questions to the state board was turned down Friday by a margin of one vote.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Over the protest of counsel for W. E. D. Stokes, who last Friday lost his suit for divorce from Helen Blanford Stokes, Supreme Court Justice Wasservogel today ordered an immediate trial of the separation suit Mrs. Stokes filed against her husband last week.

GREAT ABUSE IN USE OF STUDENTS ON CARPET CONTRACT HOSPITALS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Great abuse in the use of contract hospitals, was charged today before the senate veterans' committee by Dr. L. B. Rogers, director of the medical division of the Veterans' bureau.

Dr. Rogers declared there had been abuse in the matter of charges for the care of the veterans, the care given them and the food furnished. He also said contract hospitals are used when beds in government hospitals are available.

"Wasn't this practice followed with a desire to have the owners of the contract hospitals profit?" asked Gen. John F. O'Bryan, counsel for the committee.

"I don't know about the motive," replied Dr. Rogers, "but in many cases there is the desire to please the veterans."

Asked what had become of the officer in charge of the hospital in New England, where Director Hines found 80 per cent. of patients were outside the hospital grounds, when Hines visited it, Dr. Rogers said "he has been transferred to another of our hospitals."

FUNERALS

PERMITT—The funeral of Mrs. Sophia (Dube) Fisher, widow of Louis Fisher, took place yesterday at 9 a. m. from the home of her son-in-law, Oliver J. Groulx, 385 Mount Street and was attended by many sorrowing relatives and friends from this city and from out of town. A solemn high funeral mass was celebrated at 9:45 o'clock at St. Jeanne d'Arc church by Rev. Aurelien Meril, O.M.I., assisted by Rev. Charles Denicot, O.M.I., D.D., as deacon and by Rev. Fr. Lafertiere, O.M.I., of Hudson, N. H., as sub-deacon. The church choir, under the direction of Arthur H. Groulx, rendered the Gregorian chant. At the offertory, Jordan's "Pie Jesu" was sung by Miss Stella Latour. At the elevation Rose-wick's "O Meritum Passioni" was sung by Miss Alice Faneuf. At the close of the service "De Profundis" was sung by the choir, and as the body was borne from the church, Mrs. Antoinette Bonneau, rendered Schubert's "Perevelli." Miss Antoinette A. Dion presided at the organ. Seated in the sanctuary was Rev. Bernard Plachette, O.M.I., of the Church of the Sacred Heart. The bearers were Arthur J. Fisher, N. Edward Fisher, Oliver J. Groulx and Philip Beauregard. The funeral was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Charles Denicot, O.M.I. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers Amadee Archambault and Sons.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Wall street reports on the American plans of a solemn high funeral mass was celebrated today that he may organize a $20,000,000 oil company in this country. Stinner Agents in New York denied any knowledge of such plans. Leon Lamotte, O.M.I., as deacon and

FIRE DESTROYS LARGE STOREHOUSE IN TANNER STREET

Clark Biscuit Company's Plant Damaged—Three Alarms, in Fifteen Minutes—Loss Will Exceed $50,000—
Cause of Spectacular Fire is Unknown

Last night for the second time in eight days the entire city fire fighting force was called out to battle a serious conflagration which burned with spectacular ferocity and completely destroyed the large storehouse of David Ziskind in Tanner street, and damaged the plant of the Clark Biscuit Co. adjacent to it. Three alarms were sent in between 9:05 and 9:20 o'clock, pulling out apparatus from remote sections of the city and concentrating the whole department in a hazardous district which has had its share of disastrous fires within the past decade and more.

The losses sustained by the Ziskind and Clark companies will total upwards of $50,000, according to estimates made during and immediately after the fire. The Ziskind building was leveled and its stock of burlap, bags, and junk of all sorts destroyed. The Clark Biscuit Co. building suffered a loss of about $5000, plus a stock loss of approximately $15,000.

The flames had made so much headway when first alarm apparatus arrived shortly after 9 o'clock that summoned, the entire roof of the Ziskind building was in flames which shot up in the sky for a height of more than 50 feet. As the fire began to eat into the structure remaining gables of powder in the empty cans exploded with sharp reports and cause of flared up and sent off dense volumes of black smoke. The Clark building caught shortly after the second alarm went in and the department did excellent work in saving it from total destruction.

Water pressure during the early stages of the fire was poor, but gradually increased and under pump force was adequate. At one time a hose line in front of the Cheney Box Shop, directly opposite the fire, had only sufficient pressure to just reach the front of the Ziskind building.

Within an hour after the fire was discovered the walls of the Ziskind building buckled and the one on the south side fell into the narrow alley next to the Clark establishment. This sent showers of sparks over a large area but companies stationed on the roof of the Clark building drove them out and kept the building intact.

Great crowds of people were attracted by the glare of the flames which could be seen as far away as Lawrence. Extra police details were rushed to the scene and excellent order was maintained. The fire lines were established so as to give the firemen every opportunity for unhampered work.

The fire was discovered by a night watchman of the Ziskind Co. who could give no reason for it. When he saw the flames were mounting high toward the roof and the building seemed doomed before the first apparatus arrived.

WILL PRESENT "THE BOOMERANG"

"The Boomerang" is the title of the play decided upon for presentation by the pupils of the Lowell high school this year. This play met with a great success in New York recently, where thousands were delighted by its whimsical humor. It was written by Winchell Smith, who is the author of "Lightning" and "Thank You." The manuscript of this delightful comedy, and the acting rights have been secured from David B. Lasco, and it was necessary for the high school to pay a royalty for the play to be put on. The cast is not ready for publication but will be announced in the near future.

The class of 1924 will hold a meeting during the first recess period, in the gymnasium, to select the pupils in the 11 senior rooms, and to select the seats already requested to them.

A rehearsal of the orchestra will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday.

EQUALIZATION OF WAGES

LYNN, Nov. 12.—Joint council, Amalgamated Shoe Workers at its meeting in Lynn this afternoon, will hear reports from several localities regarding their opinion of the suggestion made by the council that a reduction of 10 per cent in wages be granted to manufacturers of shoes and children's shoes. The latest statistics and figures are being presented and the shoe makers and sole fasteners are willing to accept of a general 10 per cent reduction.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

CHICAGO MAN TO SPEAK HERE TOMORROW

Edward F. Trefz of Chicago will address the members of the chamber of commerce following the monthly membership luncheon in Liberty hall tomorrow noon. Mr. Trefz is a former field secretary of the United States chamber of commerce having served in that capacity for seven years, and is thoroughly familiar with the work of the chamber in all its branches. When he was not in Chicago, he has been in St. Paul, Minn., where he has been secretary of the St. Paul chamber of commerce. Mr. Trefz will be in the city for the first time in a plan which would divert a great amount of traffic through downtown Chicago, across a new canal bridge and through French street to Union street. That portion of downtown Chicago still is private corporation property and a seizure would be necessary before any plans now in mind could be placed in operation.

The board also authorized the employment of two or three days of W. R. Greeley of the firm of Kilham, Hopkins & Greeley, architects and structural engineers of Boston, for the purpose of making a preliminary survey of a zoning plan and also to look into the possibility of several plans advanced for the establishment of a new thoroughfare from East Merrimack to Warren streets, with a connecting bridge across the Concord river or canal.

ANOTHER CENT DROP IN GASOLINE

Oh joy! The price of gasoline dropped a cent a gallon at practically all of the filling stations and the result is that the motorists are smiling more broadly than they have smiled in many years.

The Standard, Texas, Tidewater and several other oil companies yesterday reduced the price of gasoline to 14 1/2 cents a gallon at the wagon and 15 cents a gallon retail, a reduction of one cent a gallon. This reduction brings the price down to the lowest level it has reached in ten years.

All during the past summer a price war has been waged by the various public oil companies with the rising price of gasoline. From 24 cents to 23 and down to 17 cents a gallon, by one company or another is an endeavor to unload the tremendous quantities of gasoline that they have on hand.

While this price war has had a bad effect on the oil companies, the motoring public are praying that the war will continue until the price is even lower than it is now for it is the first time in many years that the automobile owner has not been on the short end of the deal when the oil companies shuffled the cards.

EXTEND DUTTON STREET HERE TOMORROW

Planning Board Votes to Recommend Seizure Proposition to Council

The city planning board last night definitely voted to recommend to the city council the seizure of Dutton street from Merrimack street to the Merrimack mill, and open it as a public way as the first step in a plan which would divert a great amount of traffic through downtown Chicago, across a new canal bridge and through French street to Union street. That portion of downtown Chicago still is private corporation property and a seizure would be necessary before any plans now in mind could be placed in operation.

The board also authorized the employment of two or three days of W. R. Greeley of the firm of Kilham, Hopkins & Greeley, architects and structural engineers of Boston, for the purpose of making a preliminary survey of a zoning plan and also to look into the possibility of several plans advanced for the establishment of a new thoroughfare from East Merrimack to Warren streets, with a connecting bridge across the Concord river or canal.

Present at last night's meeting of the board were Chairman Patrick O'Hearn, Michael A. Lee, Benjamin S. Ponzner, Raymond M. Humphrey, Dennis J. Murphy, Dr. George O. Lavallee and Clarence M. Weed.

5, Precinct 3, High street school, 40; Ward 1, Precinct 1, Police Station, 29. Of course, it is fair to assume that voting will spread up perceptibly after 5 p. m., but 50 per cent is the outlook. In four wards, 2, 6, 7 and 8, the absence of contests for ward council will have a depressing effect upon interest, but even in Ward 3, where there are six candidates for councilor, the early vote was phlegmatic. Present indications are that Wards 4 and 5 will cast proportionally as heavy a vote as any of the other districts.

One police officer is on duty in each of the 51 voting precincts, the first detail to remain on duty until 4 p. m., when they will be relieved by a second detail. Returns are expected at city hall as early as 9 o'clock and the last precinct should not be later than 10 o'clock.

NEW GRAMMAR SCHOOL

A new grammar school in the Edison district is the reason for a special meeting of the school committee called for tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. At this time it is expected the committee will vote to instruct the city council to take the lease of the building required, as requested by the council at the close of a hearing last Tuesday evening.

TEACHERS OF TOTS COME HERE ON SATURDAY

The Massachusetts State Kindergarten association will hold a convention in this city next Saturday in Liberty hall, commencing at 10 o'clock, and it is expected that the attendance will include teachers from all over the state.

The main address will be delivered by J. Mace Andrews, of the Boston normal school. Mr. Andrews is a writer, lecturer and teacher of note, and will take for the subject of his talk, "The Mental Health of Children." Other speakers will be Miss Sarah Marble, supervisor of kindergartens in Worcester, and Miss Lucy Wheeler, of the Wheelock school in Boston, for the training of teachers in elementary work with children.

A concert will be given by the High School Mandolin club, directed by William Hovey, and Mrs. Jane Scoville of New Bedford will be the soloist on the program. Pictures of kindergartens of various kinds will be shown under the auspices of the children's bureau of the federal government, and addresses of welcome to the teachers will be given by Mayor John J. Donovan and Supt. of Schools Hugh J. Mollor.

The convention is being given under the auspices of the Lowell Teachers' association. Miss Helen Hayes, chairman, as its contribution to educational work for this season.

CUT IN EXPORT OF GASOLINE

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey has announced a cut of one cent a gallon in the price of export gasoline in bulk, making the new price 10.50 cents.

FORTY-EIGHT IN PUBLIC SPEAKING CLASS

The university extension class in oral English and public speaking now being conducted by the C.Y.M.L. in their club rooms, held a session last evening and the total registration reached 48 pupils. Professor Edward Sullivan of Boston is the instructor.

After a 20-minute talk by the professor on the first stage of the course, the class was turned over to the president, Mahoney of the Y.M.C.A., to act as chairman of the evening. Mr. Mahoney called upon several of the members of the class to address the school and Professor Sullivan made notes of what they said and their manner of delivery.

After three members of the class had spoken, the professor then explained to them and to the class the good and bad qualities of their remarks. He continued along this line until time for closing. That the class as a whole was sincere and deeply interested in the subject was evident by the marked improvement in both voice and delivery as each succeeding speaker took the floor.

It is not the intention of Professor Sullivan to tire his class with long talks along theoretical lines, but to give a short talk at the opening of each session, then turn the class over to one of the pupils as chairman, and allow all to speak upon any subject they desire, thereby giving them a practical as well as theoretical knowledge of the course.

Among the subjects to be discussed at the meeting next Monday evening are "The Trade Union Movement and the Eight Hour Workday," "Immigration," "Improvement of the North Common," "Fire Prevention," "Safety First" and "The Future."

While the class is now an assured success, there is room for more pupils and the executive board of the Y.M.C.A. will be pleased to take the application of any young man residing in the parish who desires to enter the best time to enter the class will be for the next session. "Safety First" one, were more or less of a preliminary nature. The class will be conducted in the Y.M.C.A. rooms every Monday evening, beginning at 7:45 o'clock.

Considerable Importance Attached to Presence of Johnson, McAdoo and Adams

None Would Make Statement
But Each Engaged in Series of Conferences

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Political observers attach considerable importance to the visits here of Senator William W. Johnson of California, William G. McAdoo, and John T. Adams, chairman of the republican national committee. Although none of them would make any statement, each engaged in a series of conferences with local leaders.

In some quarters the opinion was expressed that Senator Johnson's stay here might be prolonged a week and that shortly he would announce his decision as to whether he would become a candidate for the republican nomination for president. It was reported as desiring full information on the Illinois political situation, Mr. McAdoo will leave tonight for California.

Chairman Adams yesterday conferred with Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the republican committee, who has expressed the belief that the republican national convention would be brought to Chicago. Discussion of that subject was postponed until Thursday when a subcommittee of the national committee meets in Washington. It was said that Senator Johnson was the only one of the three visitors who did not comment on former President Wilson's nomination day speech. The California senator said he had not read it, as will the leading democrat of the country and he will have more to say than the next man in formulating what he has to offer at this time is of great interest.

WOMEN CLUB MEMBERS HEAR DR. ANSPACHER

Dr. Louis K. Anspacher, noted American dramatist and lecturer, treated the Middlesex Women's club yesterday to a talk on "Drama as a Social Force in Democracy." Dr. Anspacher is himself a playwright and an actor.

He defined a social force as one that acts upon the will of man, and went on to show in some length the various ways in which drama affects the thoughts and actions of the people of a nation. All drama has one fundamental idea, that of a clash of two wills, equally balanced, and culminating in physical conflict. The will of the hero must not be so strong that it overshadows that of the villain or vice versa. This is the reason that Shakespeare in his Julius Caesar gives us not the strong, imperious man who conquered all who stood against him, but a weak, epileptic Caesar who is the prey to fear of all who surround him.

Drama of any period, he said, is a registry of the social life of that period, and it is the duty of the more famous plays we can see the effect they have had on the public matters with which they deal. Instances of this which he cited are Ibsen's "Doll House" which was followed by women's enabling statutes giving them the right to their own children, co-education and emancipation from all restrictions, and "Uncle Tom's Cabin" by Harriet Beecher Stowe, which was the force that swayed the opinion of this country from indifference to abolitionism, and was the primary element in finally precipitating the Civil war. "Do you think it's an accident?" said Dr. Anspacher. "Not that is the way that drama works."

Drama is the one art in which the audience has a chance to join and either by their approval or condemnation say what and what shall not be accepted as good and true. It is the one art in which the actual writing is done by the audience. The actor is only the conductor who directs the course of the plot, and all the time he is talking, the audience does most of the thinking and fills in the scene that are inferred instead of being said outright. The drama is all that history has tried to be and failed, which is one of the main reasons for its importance, for thereby public matters may be handled in such a way that a national spirit is created. Shakespeare is responsible for the national spirit of England.

He declared that he is one of the few actors on the legitimate stage today who has any use for the moving pictures, but he considers that they have drawn away from the spoken drama all that was superficial and sickening. Things that have been removed for the better he cited as the elastic play and the melodrama. Of the melodrama he quoted the instance in one called "Tracy, the Outlaw," which, he remarked, was all of that. In one scene the hero holds upon his shoulders, a trestle that is broken in order that the train bearing the heroine may safely cross over, and then walks down to the front of the stage and exclaims, "And she will never know." This is the sort of thing that the screen has purged out of the spoken play.

The number of people reached by the drama is best realized when one stops to consider that twice a day, six days a week and for an indefinite period, large theaters are filled by audiences who expose themselves for two and one-half hours to the influence of the ideas of the playwright and when they leave the theater they are never quite the same. In their death with, as they were before at thoughts on the particular subject tending. He quoted John Brooker's definition of drama as "The law of creative purchase."

A mass of people gathered together will always have higher ideals than each component member of that mass individually, and therefore drama has an uplifting influence due to the large numbers before which it is presented. Furthermore, the problems presented are always those of the common everyday man, and not of the exceptional individual who concerns all without the least effort. It was through the book of Job that the idea of idol worship was destroyed and in its place came the conception of God as a being interested in not one certain race of people, but in all animate and inanimate things in the world. Through the medium of drama motives shaken are dropped into the human mind one at a time until the cumulative force of truth breaks through, resulting in action for the betterment of humanity.

ACTIVITIES IN GIRLS' CITY CLUB

The ever popular "Mothers' Night" which is held by the Girls' City club as often as possible throughout the winter season, will have its first appearance of the season this evening when a fine entertainment program will be given by the committee in charge of the affair. Refreshments will also be served. Miss Mabel Sullivan is chairman of the committee and will be assisted by the Misses Mabel Hogan, Edith Blanchard, Mary Mulligan, Isabelle Storey and Anna Conway. The Radio and the Cinders, two of the fastest girl bowling teams in the city, will meet tomorrow evening for the first game in a series and the members of the club are urged to attend the game to cheer and learn bowling technique from these well matched teams. Thursday evening seven new units in millinery, dressmaking and Christmas novelties will be started and registration is now in progress. Miss Katherine Keyes will teach millinery, Miss Elita McDermott novelties, and Miss Mulqueeney dressmaking. At 7:30 those interested will meet in the club rooms and proceed to the Auditorium to attend the Parker lecture session. Friday evening the Discussion Group will be addressed by Mr. H. H.

Brace, Psychology professor at the Lowell Normal school, who will continue the course begun but recently on "Woman's Place in the World." All interested bidders will leave the club rooms at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon for a cross country sprint. The Club dancing party will be chaperoned by Mrs. Clarence M. Weed Saturday evening. The opening meeting of the Dramatic class will be held Sunday evening at 4 o'clock and any person interested in the club may join. A get-together of the cast of "Oh, Oh, Cindy" will be held at 6 o'clock Sunday evening. It is possible that Mr. Rowland, director of the play, will be present. Supper will be served at the club and anyone wishing to attend should notify Miss Sadie Melancon or Miss Alice Coyne. Y. M. C. A. FUND DRIVE TO END THURSDAY The fund drive of the Young Men's Christian association has passed the half-way mark, $6500 of the desired $12,000 already having been subscribed. At the luncheon to be held next Thursday noon at the Y.M.C.A. it is expected that the drive will close with the desired mark reached.

AUTOS COLLIDE AND TURN TURTLE

A spectacular accident occurred yesterday afternoon at the corner of Pawtucket and School streets when two machines collided and turned turtle, causing injuries to the drivers of both machines and badly damaging the automobiles. One machine was the property of the Lowell Gas Light company and was driven by Clarence L. von Hornor of 15 Brookings street. The second machine was owned and operated by James Adams of 15 Tolman avenue. The Adams machine was going up

Pawtucket street and as it was abreast of School street the Gas company's machine came down School street. William Hallowell of Third avenue, an occupant of the Adams car, was cut by flying glass and he with the two drivers, was taken to the Corporation hospital. He was later released after his injuries had been treated. Neither of the drivers was badly injured. SEE THE POINT! The Sun has by far the largest circulation of any Lowell paper. HOUSE CLEANING AT THE CAPITOL AT WASHINGTON—VETS' BUREAU

(Special to The Sun)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—Uncle Sam has just finished housecleaning. Every nook and corner of the capitol has been the victim of raids from mechanics, engineers, plumbers, repairmen, scrub-women and others till it shines like the proverbial "new top."

It has taken more than 400 men and women to do the job, working overtime ever since the vice president and the speaker of the house rapped their gavels at noon, the 67th congress had come to its end.

Home folks, who clean house with the aid of a mop, a scrub-woman and perhaps one small vacuum cleaner, can shut their eyes for a minute and put themselves in the place of David Lynn, architect of the capitol, on whose shoulders rests the entire responsibility of setting the house in order before the incoming congress takes possession at 12 o'clock on the noon of December 3rd.

The "estate" at the capitol is placed at a valuation of $400,000. The main building is 751 feet long and 350 feet wide. It has countless windows, miles of flooring, and more than 500 doors. It has wonderful murals, decorations, half dozen kitchens, dining rooms, it has its own power plant, its own carpenter shop and more baths and other plumbing than the ordinary small town hall. Over cleaned, and put in ship-shape order during the congressional recess. The capitol is like a city under a roof—more than 3000 persons spend their working day there during each day of a congressional session. Housecleaning has been a wholesale affair and now the capitol and adjacent office buildings are ready for the 68th congress regardless of whether it shall shine like a guiding star or prove to be an awful example.

One of the greatest improvements made this year, is a new system of ventilation for the chambers of the senate and house. Through the steam heated winter session and the hot sun on summer sessions when the temperature of Washington often touches the 100 mark, the thousands of persons in that great building have suffered for lack of air. Now, thanks to the new system, the air is drawn out of the building and blown into the chambers of the senate and house. The new system is a masterpiece of engineering and is a great improvement over the old system.

But if we want to know just what a fall housecleaning means to the man who sees to it that the swash of the mop, the whisk of the broom, the buzz of the vacuum cleaner, the sweep of the paint brush, and all the other ways and means of cleaning on a big scale, goes on day after day without cessation, we must go into a few facts and figures.

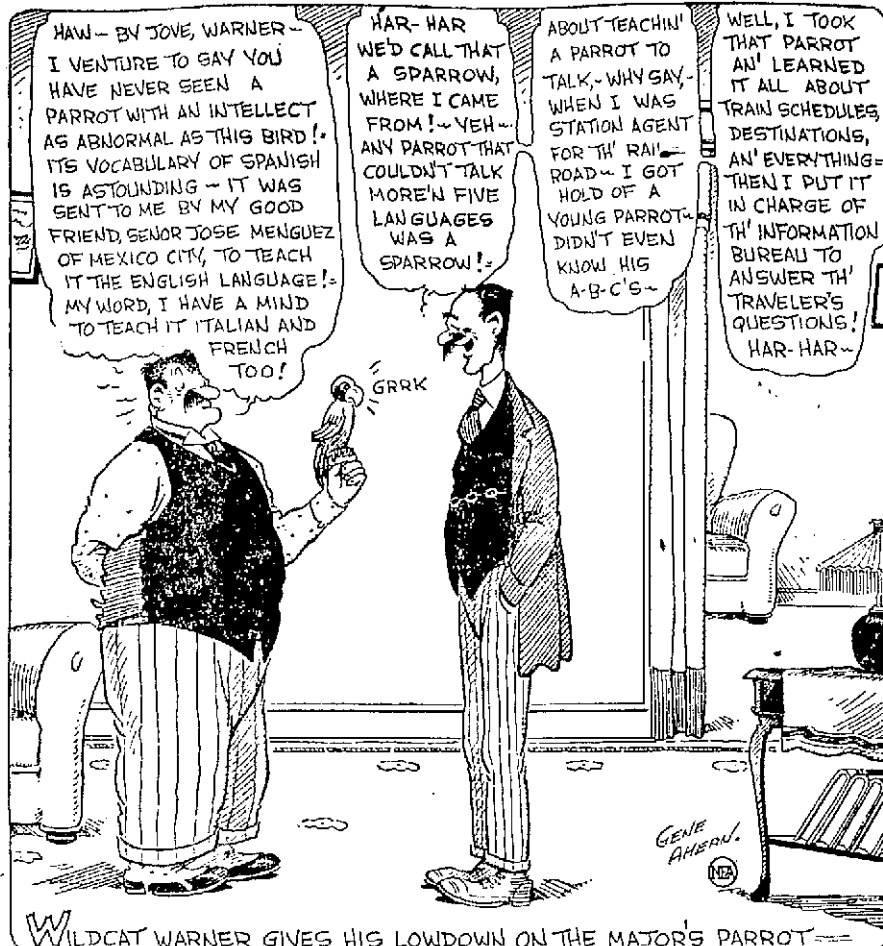

Miss Freedom, the big statue that tops off the dome, takes a semi-annual bath. Its costs about $20,000 for that clean-up, but as the lady weighs not less than 9000 pounds including the mass of iron work on which she stands, perhaps that's not excessive gauged by pound.

More than 10,000 pounds of soap are used annually in the senate and house office building, and in the capitol itself; think of that the next time you go into a store and buy one cake of soap, or perhaps indulge in a three for a quarter package.

More than 2270,000 towels were used by the senators, representatives and the staff and visitors at the capitol last year. The towels are rather startling to those of us who send out a weekly dozen or two as "our wash."

Except that the lady on the dome was amply protected by lightning rods of aluminum, that goddess of freedom would be badly shattered, but Uncle Sam takes good care of that magnificent dome as he also does of the splendid Washington monument, and sees to it that they are equipped with lightning rods. Both have been struck by bolts many times, but no damage resulted. When the dome was painted it takes over 4000 gallons of paint to do the job.

When one adds to these few details all that is necessary to keep in order and repair the hundreds of miles of rugs and carpets; the hundreds of telephones; rooms running up to the thousands and the great work that surrounds the capitol and its adjacent buildings, some faint idea can be gained of the magnitude of the work and the unavoidable expenses.

When the outside of those great white marble buildings are cleaned, twice each year, the fire department lends a hand, and engines, hose wagons and extension ladders play their part in scouring the dirt and dust from the massive outside walls.

Went In to Rest
In front of the little chapel of the Church of the Ascension is a small sign which reads, "Come In, Rest and Pray." Several days ago, a passing wayfarer took that invitation very literally and when the rector looked into the chapel late one afternoon, he saw a man stretched out on a couch in one corner. "Are you ill, my friend?" inquired the rector kindly. "No," replied the man in surprise. "Why, I'm not ill. I'm just taking a nap. You see, I came in and Rest and as I'd been tramping round all day, it looked good to me. Have I done wrong?" "Not a bit of it," hushed the rector. "We will live up to our invitation. Make yourself comfortable." And the stranger went to sleep.

Veterans Bureau Again
There is a move towards uniting the veterans bureau under some department and in charge of a cabinet officer, according to the best information coming from the White House.

Half a billion dollars were expended last year by the veterans bureau and the congress is said to believe that organization should not be merely a bureau, but should be part of an organized department with a cabinet officer responsible for the carrying on of the great work.

Department of Education
It is also said the president favors a department of education to be created and include many bureaus now working independently.

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts has been one of the leaders in the senate and wielded strong influence in all matters educational that have come up for discussion. The senator believes that much of the unrest throughout the country would be dispelled if the people were brought, through education, into closer touch with the policies and aims of the United States.

BAPTIST UNION HAS ITS MONTHLY SESSION

The Lowell Baptist union held its monthly dinner and meeting last night at Central Baptist church. President Harold F. Howe presided over the business meeting. Rev. James E. Norcross, D.D., pastor of the First Baptist church of Brooklyn, spoke of his recent camping trip in the Sierra Nevada.

The reports of Treasurer Richard Quinn and Charles A. Leach, secretary of the social committee, were read and ordered filed. Mr. Trull reported a membership increase in Baptist churches of Lowell. Rev. F. A. Norcross gave a brief sketch of the work of the French Baptist mission, supported by the union. An excellent dinner was served by the women of Central Baptist church.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home. But it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using the well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugist, pour it into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a fairly long time.

It's astonishing how quickly it acts. It penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your drugist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

FRATERNAL NEWS

The British-American Social club observed Armistice day at the Free church, Middlesex street, Saturday evening with a program of speeches and entertainment following a bountiful supper.

President W. N. Axon presided and gave the principal address of the evening. He was followed by Vice President W. S. Dawson who acted as chairman of the evening. The following program was given: Piano solo, Miss Gladys Walton, song, H. Ashton; reading, Mrs. E. Clegg; duets, Miss M. Buchanan and D. Dobson, both of whom were attired in Scotch costumes; song, Miss Dyson; armistice message, D. Dobson; concluding selection of old songs, E. Clegg; song, G. Whalley.

The supper was in charge of the following committee: Mrs. C. Holmes, chairman, Mrs. A. Vincent, Mrs. S. Cogswell, Mrs. W. N. Axon, Mrs. W. Logan, Mrs. A. Tatro and Miss M. Axon. The entertainment committee consisted of D. Dobson and W. S. Dawson. The accompanist of the evening was Miss Gladys Walton.

A special meeting of Wameest Staff association, I.O.O.F., was held Sunday morning for the purpose of rehearsing the gold degree work. This degree will be exemplified by the local team at Lawrence tonight. All members of the team will meet at 6.45 in Grafton hall. This degree will be exemplified in Lowell on the third Monday of this month and Nashua lodge, Littleton, will send down a class to go through with the local class.

A very successful fair was held by Evening Star Rebekah lodge, 30 in Odd Fellows hall, Middlesex street, last Saturday.

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT AND DRUNKENNESS PAINS AND ACHES ALL OVER BODY

Officer Francis M. O'Loughlin had much the better of a battle encounter with Martin Harron, 25, of Exchange place, last night, with the result that Harron was placed under arrest and booked at the police station for drunkenness and assaulting an officer. In district court this morning, both complaints were continued until Nov. 20.

The trouble started when the officer was called to a building at the corner of Middlesex and Thornehill streets to suppress a disturbance in which Harron figured. He started to fight when he reached the street and attempted to make a getaway. His two companions did escape, but Harron was subdued and taken to the station.

Grip, or influenza, generally leaves the blood thin and the nerves weak, a condition that robs the body of its defense against disease germs, causes every slight cold to develop into neuralgia, sciatica or rheumatism, and makes its victim miserable because of a lack of strength and ambition, loss of appetite and inability to enjoy the ordinary pleasures of life.

"An attack of influenza left me in a very run-down condition," says Mrs. Edward Whalen, of No. 40 Blue Hill avenue, Roxbury, Boston, Mass., "and I grew continually worse. I was very weak, had no ambition and would get tired very easily. I had pains and aches all over my body. My blood was thin so that the color faded from my cheeks and lips. My appetite was poor and I was subject to spells of extreme nervousness."

"A friend who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with benefit recommended them to me and I finally decided to give them a trial. They helped me from the first box. I could see that I had more ambition and I did not wake up in the morning all tired out as I had been doing ever since I had the 'flu.' I gained in strength right along and my appetite improved. After the fourth box I was entirely recovered and my nerves were as strong as ever. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills helped me wonderfully and I am glad to recommend them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., on receipt of price, 50 cents per box. Send for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."

TO ESTABLISH GREEK REPUBLIC

Report King Forced to Leave Country to Permit Proclamation of Republic

Ministerial Circles in London View Situation With Much Anxiety

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Ministerial circles in London are without definite news of the uncertain political situation in Greece at the present moment, but they view with much anxiety the unofficial reports that King George probably will be forced to leave the country so as to permit the establishment of a republic.

Great Britain, like the United States, has financial claims against Greece, and it is felt that the proclamation of a republic amid such chaotic conditions as now prevail, would make the payment of these claims or even the interest on them remote.

The United States advanced to Greece $15,000,000 under the "Liberty bond act" and the interest on this amount to date totals almost another million. While the London government, like that at Washington, has withheld its recognition of King George, who inherited such a legacy from the late King Constantine, it has warmly endorsed the young monarch's neutrality throughout the fierce party strife in Greece and his efforts to re-establish his country in the good opinion of the world.

It is recognized that George has been little more than a harmless adornment to the throne since his father's death, but at the same time, European chancelleries feel he is probably the one man acceptable to both the Venizelos and royalist parties who could tide the country through the furious political passions which since the ruthless killing of M. Gounaris and his five colleagues have poisoned the whole national life.

Little hope is entertained that the establishment of a republic there would bring anything like peace or order. Venizelos, himself, who is said by observers to be probably the only man of sufficient caliber and popularity to drag Greece out of her present position, has said that any violent change in the constitution would entirely alienate foreign sympathy. He hopes that the question of a republic will not be decided until the entire population has had the opportunity of registering its opinion in the general elections that have been fixed for Feb. 12, 1924.

SUMMARY OF EARLY MORNING A. P. NEWS

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no loss of time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 325-K, Marcellus Avenue, Manhattan, N. Y. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—Adv.

FIRE IN HOWARD STREET
An alarm from box 34 at 7:52 o'clock this morning called the fire apparatus to 166-168 Howard street where a fire had started in the parlor near a chimney. Evidently the fire had made considerable headway before being discovered as it had spread between the floors as well as in the walls before the firemen arrived. Before the fire was extinguished it was necessary to tear down considerable plaster and to rip up the kitchen and dining room floors in the upper part of the house. The house is owned by Jacob Finberg, who occupies the first floor and the upper section is occupied by William Brand.

TO REGULATE MOTOR TRAFFIC

It is quite likely that the next legislature will pass a bill regulating the operation of motor trucks and another dealing with the question of securing greater safety on the public highways.

For some time past conferences have been in progress, relative to the best method of dealing with motor trucks that are doing a freight business for pay and also with the business that get licenses from towns to carry passengers. The railroads complain that they cannot make any charges of cost into the bus business without permission from the State Department of Public Utilities; but bus lines are started on the approval of local authorities without consulting that department. It is intimated also, that more rigid restrictions will be imposed upon trucks relative to overloading, the rate of speed on the highways and insurance, which is expected will be made compulsory. There is also a sentiment in favor of appointing certain routes for trucks in order that they may be prevented from cutting up the best roads in the commonwealth and from scattering all over the highways and bluffs. The railroads complain that the trucks have cut into their freight business and street railways charge that buses are taking away much of the revenue that formerly went into their coffers. The truck men are stubbornly opposed to being placed under the direction of Public Utilities and if any local regulatory measure is to be put in force, they are in favor of having the Public Works department in charge of its administration.

It is understood that several bills have already been submitted for action by the next legislature for the purpose of punishing drunken drivers from the public highways. Some of these measures provide heavy penalties. One would provide a minimum sentence of three months and a maximum of three years in prison for the first offense, while at the same time the operator's license is automatically revoked and after his final conviction it cannot be renewed for a long period.

If a penalty of this kind is to be imposed for the first offense one might naturally suppose that the second or third offense would run up to life imprisonment or even electrocution. This may sound harsh, but when it is considered that an astounding number of deaths are due annually in this state to the operation of motor vehicles by drunken drivers, there is certainly good reason for imposing the severest penalties.

EX-PRESIDENT WILSON'S APPEAL

Armistice Day brought another significant utterance from ex-President Woodrow Wilson, relative to the conditions in Europe and to our alleged failure to participate in the rehabilitation of the distressed nations on that continent, following the close of the great war. In his brief speech sent out by radio on Saturday night, the ex-president reproached the government of the United States as having courage in not having joined the allied powers with which this country was associated during the war, in restoring peace and settling the reparations disputes and differences by which the treaty of Versailles has been reduced to waste paper. He practically said that we betrayed the cause for which our soldiers fought in abandoning the allied powers as soon as the hostilities had ceased.

With all due respect to the ex-president his statement cannot be accepted as justified. The United States has not played a cowardly part with Europe. Mr. Wilson seems to forget that this nation is not a part of Europe, and that the fact of our having saved the allies from defeat, does not make us their perpetual guardians.

Mr. Wilson was overcome with emotion by the ovation tendered him on Armistice Day, but he managed to express his views on the European situation and particularly upon the attitude of the government at Washington in holding aloof from negotiations to promote peace and restore harmony in Europe. His final declaration was that "he had not the least anxiety about the triumph of the principles he had stood for and that he had seen the world resist the will of Providence before and had also seen their destruction, as will come upon those who resist these again, after destruction and contempt. That we shall prevail is as sure as that God reigns."

That is a strange statement surely, but there is reason to believe that it reflects the feelings of the ex-president, moved to deep emotion by the centenary of a great throng of 20,000 people. It goes out to the world, however, as the voice of a man who presided over the destinies of this nation during the greatest of all wars and who now in broken health, it might be said on the brink of the grave, makes an appeal for the support of its principles and policies by which he had hoped to establish and maintain universal peace. It is the voice of a disappointed man who has seen the civilization with which he has thus far been associated, unless his ideas are adopted.

SEN. UNDERWOOD'S ADDRESS

U. S. Senator Underwood of Alabama, a very promising candidate for the democratic nomination for president, was the speaker at a demonstration on Boston common in observance of Armistice Day. Underwood is decidedly the ablest statesman who has thus far been mentioned as a candidate for president. His long experience in congress and his native ability, particularly as a statesman and economist, give him a distinction which can be equaled by but few men in the country.

His subject in Boston as might be expected was truly democratic. He spoke of the constitution as guaranteeing the personal rights and liberties of the individual and the history of the world to make any such guarantee. This is a democracy, but even in a democracy, as Senator Underwood showed, the majority may go wrong and infringe upon the rights of the individual. It may become tyrannical and an enemy of mankind so far as individual liberties are concerned. It was to prevent such a possibility that the fathers of the constitution embodied therein the guarantee of individual liberty.

In the course of his address, Senator Underwood made it clear that any movement that would discriminate against any citizen because of his religious belief, is opposed to the fundamental principles of the constitution. If this belief were generally applied throughout the country, we should have no such organization as the Ku Klux Klan; and various other organizations that advocate similar principles would also quickly disappear. The country will be benefited by the diffusion of the sentiments expressed in Senator Underwood's address on Armistice Day.

TARIFF AND PROTECTION

For the formation of a permanent association, for an attempt to take the tariff out of politics, for supporting the present tariff act with some changes, the Western Tariff association recently met in Denver. The association's object, of course, is to judge, when necessary, the sides of the president, congress and the tariff commission with the spur of western tariff desires. Mr. Coudge has already sent the association the assurance of his "sympathetic interest."

One of the major addresses at the convention was by John M. Parker, governor of Louisiana, who now ranks as a democrat in politics. In 1916 he was a progressive, a nominee for vice president on the progressive ticket, but the party passed away before the election. In private life, Mr. Parker is a leading man in the cotton textile fields.

This southerner declares that the tariff question is more important today than ever before in our history and "should not be made a football for designing politicians." He believes that America cannot possibly compete with those nations in which "labor is cheap, whose wants are limited, whose only hopes are for existence and who have few ideals." If the present tariffs are hindering prosperity in Europe, it should be changed, providing letting down the bars will not result in closing American industries.

Yet American industries cannot flourish without an outlet for surplus production in lands across the seas, and that is where the Louisiana governor is particularly emphatic in his characterization of present day industrial demands for larger distribution markets. He fails to make clear, however, that the excessively high tariff now in force has caused some countries to extend their trade elsewhere and as a result the foreign demand for our products is lacking.

SHORTAGE IN SKILLED TRADES

Idle plumbers and expert carpenters are scarce in employment circles of the state today. Numerous demands by employers on the public employment offices to supply plumbers and helpers, have not been filled. The same conditions exist to a large extent in Lowell. The plumbing trades were never so busy. Many master plumbers have had difficulty in finding a sufficient number of men to carry out their contracts.

Other New England cities report "dramatic markets in skilled plumbers." The calls for painters and paperhangers have been incessant also. In county towns, home-bred members of this class of workmen were never busier. There has been a fair demand for carpenters, which has been filled after delays.

TO REDUCE TAXES

Secretary Mellon announces a plan by which income, luxury and other taxes will be reduced by 25 per cent. If congress adopts his recommendation, that change will certainly be welcomed as it is high time that the war taxes were discontinued. Even the admission to theatres and other entertainments is still subject to a war tax. Mellon's plan would put an end to that and would also reduce the burdensome surtaxes of which we hear so much.

The tax reduction will assist naturally in restoring business activity and it will put an end to many of the exemptions now possible for those who put their money in non-taxable securities. This program would undoubtedly be a great incentive to industrial activity; and it is to be hoped it can be adopted without skimming any other necessary expenditures.

THE RED CROSS

The Red Cross has been successful. We have had a great many drives recently but none more worthy than the Red Cross. This is an appeal which should meet a generous response. It is the annual roll call and is of national scope. This is an occasion on which Lowell will be expected to do her full duty. The Red Cross has always tried well here and it is expected that in the present case the good record will be maintained.

Why do the Ku Klux Klan burn the cross? In the Ku Klux Klan object in consigning the emblem of Christianity to the flames? The explanation seems childish.

Do not let anything prevent you from voting at today's primaries. Plenty of time for everybody to get to the polls.

Now that we are on the verge of winter, it is hoped there will soon be a lessening of the number of auto accidents.

"High Dink" Asparagus

A very loving couple had just returned from their honeymoon. "High dink," said the wife, "I saw there is some asparagus ready for cooking." To which the husband replied coolly: "George, dear, it will be better if you shall pluck it and I will hold the ladder."

Oyster Dressing

The newly married couple were having a turkey for the first time. "I don't know how it is," he remarked. "But this bird's got bones all over it. Just listen to the knife on them, my dear." "So how silly of you darling," thought the wife. "Turkey and shells." "Shells?" "Yes, shells. Don't you remember you said you liked turkey with oyster dressing?"

His Own Point

A Texas attorney was delivering a fourth of July address. He had held forth for nearly an hour, apparently without getting anywhere. At length he stopped, and then said in impressive tones: "I pause to ask myself a question." A voice from the back of the hall shouted: "Better not. You'll only get a fool answer."—The Lawyer and Banker.

He Got a Job

An Irishman who was out of work went on board a vessel that was in the harbor and asked the captain if he could put him to work. "Well," said the captain, at the time handling the freight, "I have a piece of rope. If you can find three ends to that rope you shall have some work." The Irishman took hold of one end of the rope, and showing it to the captain, said: "That's one end, your honor." Then he took hold of the other end, and showing it to the captain as before, said: "And that's two ends, your honor." Then, taking hold of both ends of the rope, he threw it overboard saying: "And there's another end to it, your honor." He was engaged.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Fame is indeed fleeting. Let a man prominent in public life give up his duties and soon he is almost forgotten. Just to cite an instance, today I received a copy of the "Elks' Magazine" and found therein an article "Once Around a Whirl" written by George Creel. I started to read it when my glance caught a picture of a steam-whistle and I stopped reading. We of New England know only the whistles of other days, the grand square riggers that presided over an inspiring sight when they homeward or outward bound with every stitch of clean white canvas held rigid by the breeze.

Before turning the page I found myself asking "George Creel, Creel, Creel, surely I know him." It wasn't for several seconds that I finally recalled he was war-time chairman of the committee of public information. America's official censor.

I mentioned this to a friend and he said "that's nothing; you're not slipping old man" and suggested I ask the next town supposedly well informed person I met who George Creel was. I followed the suggestion and only a few knew. Which reminds me you yourself would probably be startled if asked to name off-hand former presidents. Try it and see.

Construction work on the new Elks' home is proceeding slowly but thoroughly. I stepped around to look at it the other day and found the workmen busy in completing the basement work. The building is expected to be fully ready for use next May.

Randolph Reed, secretary of the Lowell Radio Club, gives us the interesting information that there are over 40 stations within a seven-mile radius in Lowell and vicinity. The men running them, however, are not of the crowd who were thrilled for a short time by the novelty of the new "crackles," but are the old timers who deal in code and know wireless from A to Z. They have had communication with many parts of the country and one was even so fortunate as to be heard in Greenland by Donald McMillan. For the present they have abandoned the room formerly held in Merrimack street and seek a location in some quieter spot of the city, but they still keep in touch with one another for the advancement of their mutual hobby.

The shores of beautiful Lake Massapequa, sometimes known as Island pond, and situated in Unstable, are being ruthlessly attacked by a group of looters who have set in operation the old sawmill that lay idle for so many years at the upper end of the lake. Not a twig is being left on the side of the hills surrounding the water, and the purpose is evidently being carried out of converting it to farm land. In the middle of the lake stands a small island about 25 square feet in area, bearing the heavy stone of three tower names: Dunster, Tyndershire and Grover. Formerly, it was a fashionable summer colony, but about 50 years ago the two towers were destroyed, and it converted to the wilderness, until the Girl Scouts started camping there a few years ago. And now the looters have discovered it and the path of progress is marked along its shores by ever-rising piles of boards for houses in the creek.

Bergeant T. J. Kimball, of the local army recruiting station, has in his possession an interesting table of statistics compiled for his purpose by the headquarters at Washington. These figures purport to show that out of every 100 men of the age of 25 years, 64 will be living at 35 years of age, 41 will be living at 45, 24 at 55, 14 at 65, 7 at 75, 3 at 85, and the remaining 64 will be living.

CHECK FOR FIREMEN'S RELIEF ASSOCIATION

The treasury of the Lowell Firemen's Relief association is $300 richer. A check for that amount having been received from Andrew P. Roach for the good work of the firemen in fighting the fire in the Flske building recently. Mr. Roach is past owner of the Flske block. This is the second donation to the firemen's fund made in connection with the Flske fire. The first was made by the Gray Furniture company, occupants of the store next to the Flske building.

WATCHMAN ON GUARD AT CENTRAL BRIDGE

Another portion of Central bridge dropped into the Merrimack about 2:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon and left a cavity six feet square which kept a watchman on guard all night and until an early hour this morning, when the break was repaired. The break occurred near the Centralville entrance to the bridge on the incoming railroad track.

Nobody ever disputed P. T. Barnum when he told us we were a sucker nation. The late great showman was too much of an authority on suckers to be disputed. We thought, however, it was just a family secret for us to keep here at home. Now, however, it appears that somebody translated a few of the late P. T.'s aphorisms into foreign languages and too many immigrants are in on the secret. They are in on the secret. One of this class is good-natured, grinning, poker-playing, flashy fellow who puts a bit of polish on our shoes, sometimes a very indifferent shine, and in a short while buys the block in which we live. For Sore Throat, Cold on Chest

Mustardine Subdues the Inflammation and Eases the Soreness Quicker Than Anything Else on Earth

Pay only 25 cents and get a big box of Burg's Mustardine which is the original substitute for the old-fashioned mustard plaster and is made of strong, red-yellow mustard—no substitutes are used.

It is known as the quickest pain killer and is used in hundreds of instances for rheumatism, neuralgia, toothache, headache and backache in 5 minutes.

It is a sure, speedy remedy—none better for colds, influenza, pneumonia, and to draw the inflammation from your sore feet there is nothing so good as Burg's Mustardine.

It cures off pain and kills it in 10 minutes. Yes, it burns, but it doesn't blister. It doesn't give agonizing pain—a sharp, healthy punch in the jaw-still kills pain.—Advt.

RED CROSS WORKERS GET NEW MEMBERS

Three hundred and twenty-eight new members were enrolled by local Red Cross workers yesterday—the opening day of the nation-wide membership campaign.

There will be no personal solicitation for funds this year in Lowell and vicinity. Every donor will be presented with a button and a window flag on which to paste extra crosses for each member of the family who becomes a member of the Red Cross by giving one dollar.

Headquarters of the drive in Lowell are maintained at the Union National bank, where Mrs. George A. Leahy, director of the local campaign, has her office. Other banks maintaining similar booths are the Appleton National, Lowell Trust Co. and Middlesex National bank. The booth in Liggett's store will be kept open during business hours.

BILLERICA NEWS

Historic Box to Be Opened 100 Years Hence

The members of the Billerica Historical society held the final exercises of sealing the historic box, containing the data of present day history which will be examined and read by the Billerica residents of 2023. The exercises were held in the Bennett public library. The box which contains the data was made by Bartholomew Hays; it is copper covered and lined with galvanized iron, so it is safe to say the data will be intact one hundred years hence.

The officers of the society are: President, Dr. Warren A. Stearns; vice president, Edward F. Dickinson; secretary, Mrs. Clara Sexton; treasurer, T. Frank Lyons.

The North Billerica Baptist church will hold its annual fair and sale of work next Thursday evening, Nov. 15, in the vestry of the church. Cafeteria lunch will be served by the Philanthropia class and an entertainment will be given by Mrs. Delle Harrington Hall, Miss Marjorie Colton, Miss Violet Henson and William Hoyt.

Miss Mabel Sullivan who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis, has arrived home after recuperating at the home of her brother in North Andover.

Mrs. Timothy Mahoney is convalescing after a serious operation. Her many friends wish her speedy recovery.

The Billerica grange held a meeting last Thursday evening in I.O.O.F. hall and the following officers were elected for the year:

Master, Maude Gage; overseer, Arthur Hallenbeck; lecturer, Achsah Simmons; steward, Ruth Hallenbeck; assistant steward, John Poney; chaplain, Rev. J. Harold Dale; treasurer, Clarence A. Sandman; secretary, Clara Duff; gatekeeper, Alida Clarry; Coros, Lotta Kenney; Promote, Harriet Farmer; lady assistant steward, Irma Olson; executive committee for three years) Pearl Kenney.

MACHINES SMASHED BUT NOBODY HURT

Augusta P. Sarre and Milton Stewart, both of Chelmsford, narrowly escaped serious injury early yesterday morning when their machine collided at Billerica street and Lowell road. Although neither was hurt both machines were badly damaged.

Sarre was coming to his place of business in this city in his Essex coach when the accident occurred. Stewart was driving a Ford touring car. The Sarre car was pushed onto the sidewalk by the impact and toppled over. Mr. Sarre was lifted from the car by Henry Erickson, who witnessed the accident.

Our stock at 223 Central St. was practically all destroyed. But our good friends, the manufacturers and wholesalers, have been more than kind, in fact we learn that we have many real friends in our trouble.

Merchandise in quantity and variety has been shipped with wonderful promptness and accuracy. This with four registered pharmacists places us in position once more to give A-1 prescription service.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem DIET

The Fat Lady said,
"Well, of course, you may scoff.
I DO look overfed
But I can't take it off.
I eat like a fuy,
Yet I'm gaining, it seems."
(And she nibbled away
At some chocolate creams.)

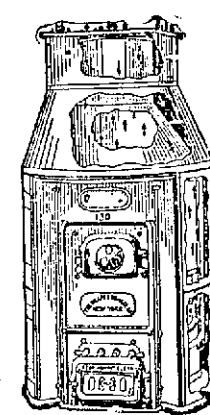

"For breakfast I manoh
Naught but toast that is dry;
Only salad for lunch
And no pastry or pie,
Yet I still put on weight—
'It is Fate, so I judge."
(And she airily ate
Seven pieces of fudge.)

"Well, it only proves that
Though you scarce eat a crumb
If you're meant to be fat
It is fat you'll become."
(Then she sugared her tea,
While bewailing her beam,
And ate two plates or three
Of delicious ice cream.)

BUT DADDY ISN'T COMING

Daddy is awfully late tonight. And these five little waifs can't understand why. And why, they ask, are all the neighbors coming over to see mama? Nobody has told them yet that their father isn't coming home tonight—or tomorrow night, either. For their daddy, Joe Gurak, was one of the 27 men killed in the explosion in Glen Rogers Mine in Beckley, W. Va. Besides these five is a baby sleeping in the front-room crib. And Mrs. Gurak came from Poland only two weeks ago.

THE STRAND THEATRE

Poverty and riches, happiness and sadness, the wild abandon of war and the merry-making of peace all are shown in the new production of the Universal Super-Jewel production that is the main feature at the Strand the first part of this week. It is an unusually brilliant and excellent work.

"Sinclair Lewis' 'Main Street' is announced as the feature for Thursday,

Friday and Saturday.

The supporting members in the cast include, Ralph Graves, George

Pawcett, J. Frank Glendon and Julia

Calkins.

The added feature "Youth to Youth" is concerned with the plight of a beautiful musical star, whom all New York worships. She quits her career in which her work is discussed.

She accepts a position with a small troupe of barnstorming players, under an assumed name, and falls in love with a young farmer whom she meets while playing one of the rural towns.

It is this young man's ambition for the actress which almost ruins her happiness. The mysterious disappearance is explained, and unlooked for complications set in which ensure the

Billie Dove in fine in the leading role while Cullen Landis as the young farmer and Noah Beery as a theatrical manager do excellent work.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 7

Apparently Jack looked a bit scared for Jinks turned to him and said, "Don't worry, this storm will be over in a short time." And almost as he said it, a stream of sunlight blazed in one of the cabin windows. "The storms on the ocean are often short ones," said Jinks.

Jack peered again through a window and then suggested they all go out on deck. Shortly after he had reached the bow railing he asked that he be allowed to take the steering wheel. "I'll lead the way to Gold Island," he promised. So Jinks turned the wheel over to him.

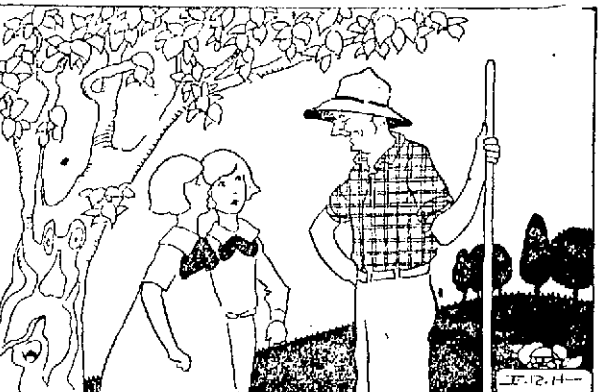

Jack changed the course of the ship, while Jinks, Nick and Bibbs watched him in amazement. "How do you know where Gold Island is?" asked Bibbs. "Well," said Jack, "I have heard that there is gold at the end of the rainbow, and there is the rainbow ahead of us." (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

THE STORY OF ROBBIE REEDER

"WELL, I DECLARE!" SAID MR. ROE GROWER IN SURPRISE

"Come on, fellows! What did I tell you? Didn't I say that Dixie Land was a fine place? Look at that rice-field all specially planted for us! Nothing like that up north."

A little brown and white bird with a yellow throat made this long speech to a couple of dozen of his friends. They were all resting in a pine-tree after their long journey.

The birds hadn't noticed a couple of small figures nearby—a little boy and girl who nodded knowingly at each other when they heard what the birds were saying.

"That's Robbie Reeder and his gang that Mister Ricegrower asked us to look out for," said Nick to Nancy. "Did you hear him say that the rice had been 'specially planted for them'?"

"Maybe he does think so," answered Nancy. "He looks like a nice little bird. He doesn't look like a thief."

"If he's been here before, he ought to know better," argued Nick. "Perhaps he's just telling that to his friends so they'll all go along and keep him company."

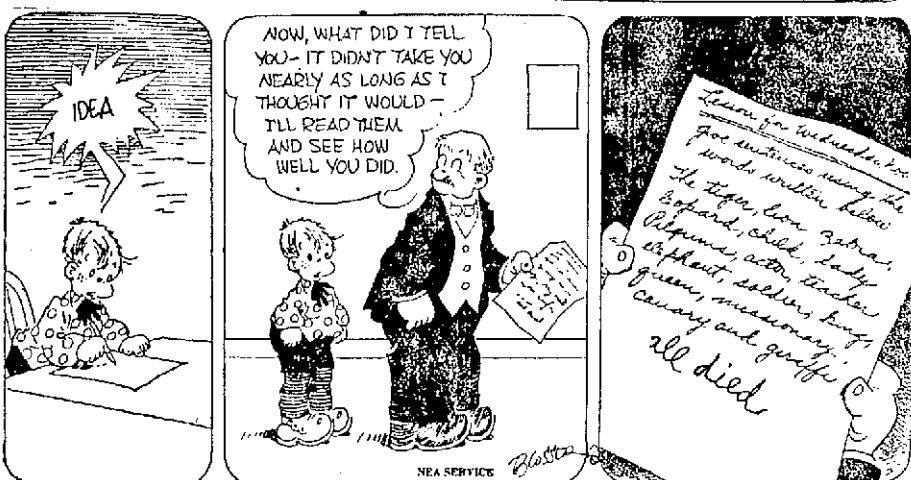

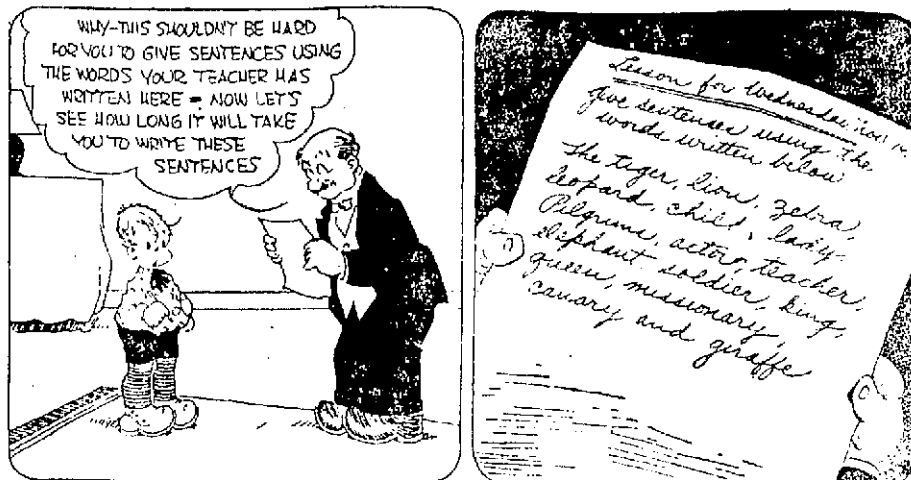

But before Nancy could answer, Robbie Reeder called out, "Come on, fellows! If we want to get as far as South America this year, we'll have to be attending to business. Now eat all the rice you can hold because we have to fly a long distance over water with nothing to eat at all. One, two, three, ready, go!"

And instantly all the birds settled down on the rice stalks like a small cloud and began to snip off the little

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

NO SECRET NOW

Hope Hampton, pretty movie idol, is married. Has been since July, so Broadway has just learned. And her husband is Jules Brulatour, wealthy movie magnate, who was her first manager. The ceremony is reported to have taken place in Baltimore.

London Papers Show Anxiety

many, was again a figure commanding world attention today as the governments of the powers made efforts to learn more of his reported plans for returning to the fatherland.

Equipped with passports for himself and members of his suite, the ex-kaiser is said by a local newspaper to be prepared to establish either himself or his son, former Crown Prince Frederick William, on the throne of the empire on Dec. 4.

There was no official confirmation of the activities at Doorn house nor was William's destination in Germany suggested. Private messages from the little Dutch village, however, said that a courier yesterday delivered there 12 passports permitting the ex-kaiser and his entourage to re-enter the fatherland after their five years in exile. Cipher messages are said to have been
